Governor Palin:

Dear Palin,

I would like to express my opinion. I read in our newspaper a few weeks ago that they where going to ask the State government, to help out when our town leaders got our town into debt when going after a prison to go out on Fort Greely. Please refuse it we have to pay for our own mistakes.

Thank You

MESSAGE:

Dear Governor Palin,

The people of Alaska have spoken twice on the issue of Aerial Wolf Hunting. It is immoral and flat wrong. I have hunted successfully for moose in the past and support hunting rights. However, the board of game is stacked and is turning Alaska into a wild game farm. The thrill of hunting moose involves being in the same wilderness as bears and wolves. Please stop the program and keep Alaska wild!

I am also sending you a letter from the Department of Fish and Game indicating that the moose population was healthy and there were more than twice the moose in the McGrath area. Here it is:

Press Release: November 6, 2001

BETTER NEWS FOR McGRATH MOOSE

Survey Documents Larger Moose Population Than Previously Thought

A new, thorough survey of the moose population near McGrath has found twice as many moose in the area as previously thought, Alaska Department of Fish and Game Commissioner Frank Rue announced today.

"This new population survey is better news about moose in the McGrath area," Rue said. "The new data corrects earlier population estimates and indicates the moose population around McGrath is not declining and, in fact, may be starting to grow again. The results underscore the importance of the science-based, adaptive approach we've applied to moose management in the area. The new population numbers lead me to conclude that lethal predator control measures are not warranted and subsistence hunting should be allowed to continue."

The moose survey in Game Management Unit 19D East near McGrath was completed October 30 and found more than 1,800 moose in the area where about 830 moose were estimated last year.

Fish and Game staff is confident the latest survey is more accurate than the census conducted last year. This year observers counted every moose they could find in a 500-square-mile area surrounding McGrath. Previous moose population estimates were based on counts within randomly chosen survey units that were applied to the entire area. These randomly selected units contained very few moose and less-than-ideal conditions hindered the census effort. Good weather contributed to the success of the 2001 survey along with additional daylight since the survey was completed ten days ahead of last year's schedule. The timing of moose surveys varies each year, depending on snow cover.

With growing concern over the availability of moose to meet local subsistence needs, and doubts about the reliability of available information about moose numbers in 19D East, the department made a concerted effort this year to obtain the most accurate population information possible.

"Thanks to this year's successful moose census we now see a clearer picture," Rue said. "It is likely that local trapping efforts have been more effective than we first thought in reducing wolf predation on moose."

The McGrath area has been the focus of an Adaptive Management Team appointed by Gov. Tony Knowles to make recommendations for wildlife management to benefit local residents. The department will discuss the new census data with the Adaptive Management Team in an upcoming meeting regarding further monitoring and management strategies.

Governor Palin,

Our Wildlife and Game is for ALL ALASKANS! Please put people that are progressive on the board of game...enough with the Alaska Outdoor Council controlling our Game Board.

Thanks for your time and consideration!

I was on shift when you came to visit the AK Guard in the desert. I'll have to cash in on lunch and a picture with the Governor later.

Since returning to my home in Fbks, I see that John Coghill has introduced a pro life bill. The facts that the "fetus" is alive, feels pain, ect. has unfortunately done little to change the mind of those in favor of abortion. In our great country we have just passed the 35th. year, and 50 millionth abortion. Perhaps the struggling state of our nation to fill our skilled work force, military, and just good old citizen tax payers can now be attributed to the fact that we are missing 50 million Americans citizens. At 35 years old and on down they would be in the prime of life, and a much needed asset to the country. I strongly encourage you to continue your pro life stance in our state.

Well, every self respecting infantryman goes on to airborne school. Paratrooper's mom should be the next title.

I was working in Alaska when you were running for Governor and i heard you speak.

With the two front runners for the office of the President ,and what is at stake ,most Republicans feel it is a repeat of Bob Dole and 1996.

The Younger conservatives relate more to you ,than what we see everyday from the Media.

They are Emailing McCain and Romney telling them they want you as a VP ,or they are leaving the party.

This includes myself ,if asked is there any way you would consider that office?

Please just say yes, if i were asked ,we would love to have a little hope out here.

Like Reagan ,only you could unite a fractured party.

I heard you speak ,you shook my hand in a crowd ,I voted for you,and Leadership is in your blood i could see it.

Dear Sarah, The reason I am writing is to get your views of presidential candidate Ron Paul. As you may know Ron Paul has won a KTUU poll in alaska. He also has many campaign headquarters all over the state. In the Valley I have seen all kinds of public showing of Ron Paul supporters, weather it be gun shows, or supporters on the side of the road. At UAA the showing of support for Ron Paul continues far more than any other presidential candidate. So I reside back to my question; if you are a Ron Paul supporter, and if so are you going to publicly show your support, as many other alaskans have. Thank you for your time.

I came back to Anchorage this afternoon. Jason confirmed we filed the Kenai River regs today (without the outright ban of 2 strokes in 2010). After our meeting in Juneau I made personal calls and spoke with Denby, Larry Hartig, left a detailed message for Tom I. and spoke with Dick Lefevbre (his deputy commish), and walked into Sen. Wagoner's office where I found Mary Jackson and explained to her since the senator wasn't around. All are fine and thankful for the direction prior to Board of Fish meeting.

Tom Irwin had indicated he was going to do the press on what was going on.

Honorable Governor Palin,

We are writing to thank you for your help with the Alaska Meth Education Project last year, and to request an appointment with you to discuss a proposal we are working on for moving the Nugen's Ranch facility to a new location on Point MacKenzie. We are mailing you a copy of this proposal.

I am sure you are aware that the efforts last year to begin a Meth Education Project were quite successful. We used your PSA's to launch a TV and radio campaign that also included two locally produced TV commercials. We were also successful in getting some state funds appropriated to the Boys and Girls Clubs that is being used for meth education. Also Senator Murkowski recently announced a $400,000 federal appropriation for the project. Plans are currently being developed for the continued education efforts. Thanks for helping get this important effort started.

Mary and I have been working with Nugen's Ranch for three years to help find funds to resolve the issue that their current farm facility, as you are well aware of, is located in the middle of a rapidly growing commercial and residential area, which causes complaints concerning the livestock raising and the nearby alcohol sales establishments. The facility is also quite old and in need of serious improvements.

We have been working with Congressman Young on this issue and last year he was successful in providing $150,000 which is the first phase of the requested federal share. We also begin meeting with the Alaska Funders Group (Rasmuson, Mental Health, USDA, and the Denali Commission) to assist with this project. They have approved us working with the Foraker Group to update the facility plans and our business plan so we can make this new facility happen.

We will be in Juneau on Monday February 11 and a half day on the 12th, and would like to schedule an appointment with you and your staff to discuss the project. We have some appointments with legislators but can certainly move things around to accommodate your schedule. Who may we contact to set up an appointment? You can reach us at 745-3323, 232-3328 or 232-7332.

Thanks and we look forward to seeing you.

"What we do: The Department of Natural Resources manages all state-owned land, water and natural resources, except for fish and game, on behalf of the people of Alaska."

Dear Governor,

Brace yourself from an onslaught of criticism from the Native community. A tempest is brewing across the state about the Board of Game appointments. The main beef: that there's no longer representation on the board from an Alaska Native subsistence user.

This will bring you much ill will, especially from Rural lawmakers who are now preparing to wage war over the confirmation of these two appointments.

Web mail from: Ms. Ms. Ms. Olga Moonwhisper
address: PO Box 90373 Anchorage AK 99509

MESSAGE:

As a supporter of Defenders of Wildlife and someone who cares about sound wildlife management, I strongly urge you to withdraw your support for the use of aircraft to hunt and kill Alaska's wolves and bears.

Alaska is well known for its amazing wildlife and stunning natural beauty. It is appalling that your office and others in the state government continue to sanction the brutal aerial hunting of the state's majestic wolves and bears in nearly 60,000 square miles of the state.

As I am sure you are aware, aerial hunting was outlawed by the federal government in 1972. Yet Alaska officials continue to skirt the law and permit aerial hunting, claiming that this terrible practice is necessary for wildlife management -- an assertion that is not supported by available data on wildlife population numbers.

This unwarranted program often leads to inhumane deaths, with hunters in low-flying aircraft shooting down wolves or chasing them to exhaustion, and landing and killing the animal at close range. In some cases, wounded wolves escape, only to experience a slow, painful death.

This program is an embarrassment to the State of Alaska. Alaska's voters have twice rejected the use of aircraft by private hunters to kill wolves. It's past time that state officials listen to Alaska's citizens and put an end to this brutal and unnecessary program.

Thank you for considering my comments.

MESSAGE:

Dear Gov.Palin:

My husband and I are writing to you to express are strong opposition to HB 256 we do not agree with this bill or the current Alaska Predator Control Program killing wolves, bears, and potentially wolverines by utilizing aircraft. ALL objective and unbiased Alaskan and National US scientists/wildlife biologists that have reviewed the program have found it to be biologically unsound and ill concieved, including the American Society of Mammologists & US National Science Foundation. Short-term monetary profits for some guide services and the wants of Alaskan urban/ out of state of trophy and sport hunters should not take precedence over long term sound, science based ecological management of our wildlife resources. This program will not put more meat on the table of Alaskan subsistence hunters on a perminent basis; in fact it may cause an over all drop in moose/ caribou populations long term. We will not vote for you for any position now or in the future and will advise our friends/acqua intances to do the same if you continue to support or strengthen the current despicable Alaska Predator Control Program.

Sincerely

Dr. Laura & Joseph Mujica-Crapanzano

Governor - Security can view your calendar at any time. So, my take on this is that they are looking through your calendar and then notifying the event contacts listed to ask more about the event, etc. I would like to ask that they notify me first before notifying anyone on your calendar so that this does not happen in the future. I apologize about all of this. Janice

Gov Palin,

The summer you were running, you told me on a radio station that ... "you would not go against an Initiative that had passed by a majority of the voters". You probable remember it too?

Well the aerial wolf hunting was voted on twice and YOU know how it came out.

Now your supporting stances that ARE going against those initiatives.

I hope you give this some serious soul searching. If you keep this stance., IE supporting aerial wolf hunting, I can only conclude you lied on the radio.

BTW, we need our legislature moved to ANC or at least off major route near ANC. What about across the inlet?

Oh, why haven't you moved on my idea about building a Nuclear Power Plant across the inlet.

Oh, the oil companies don't care about us. We need to to take the oil and gas from them..Pay them a little money and DO IT ourselves. Employ just Alaskans for almost ever. Even with the gov inefficiencies the state would be better off.

Sincerely,

Wm Harvey

I still get mixed msgs then on who pays for what. Remember the mess with the student athletes who wanted to visit - I received the very strong msg that the state did NOT pay for hosting (most) receptions or folks would abuse the house usage as just another free venue for their event. (Remember that's why we used old food, volunteer moms, and donated brownie mix for the teams). It's also why Todd and I have been so hesitant to ever invite anyone over - the rules are murky and I'm not going to risk breaking any unwritten rules because things get leaked and misconstrued. So... I need more definitive rules to follow when it comes to hosting, inviting and feeding guests in the Gov's house. I'm cc'ing Mike(s) so they'll, too, know it's been a year of mixed messages re: what I can and can't do in the house. Thanks

Governor,

Usually events are approved that the Governor or First Gentleman host- then if either of you can't attend, we can ask for the Lt. Governor or a Commissioner to host the event. If you want to approve this request and the Lt. Governor or a Commissioner hosts it that's perfectly fine from the aspect of House protocol. I think the idea is that it limits groups from thinking of the House as just another venue. Hope that answers your question.

Thanks,

Erika

I know that you will be in New York during the requested date of Wed., 02.27.08. Joe has asked if it would be okay with you to go ahead and host the Tongass Futures Roundtable Reception at the House that evening. It will be staffed by Joe Balash and the Lt. Governor. This was the request for approx. 35 attendees. Thanks, Janice

We wanted to make sure West High wasn't preparing for me - they get disappointed if I do show and it's just supposed to be a drop-by. Don't know if that got communicated, but it's what Janice did work on. (That's the problem with inquiring about details of events- folks then think I'm showing up.). Maybe Janice can add to this.

Also, if I am able to swing by I doubt it'll be a party of four so don't want them to reserve seats unnecessarily. Thanks

Governor,

Jus trying to hep you here...at your 6:00 pm event at the Egan please just pull up to the front of the building, Bob has arranged for parking and will grab the vehicle.

Officials at West High expect full capacity, 1900 people. The event will last about 1 hour and they have reserved 4 seats for you and guests. If you suspect you need more seats, please let me know so we can arrange. Bob again will assist with the car.

On Monday I will take the suburban in to DOT for repairs to the door.

Ring me if you need anything.

Gary

Later he called and apologized saying that he was wrong in that opinion. Since then I've been impressed with my dealings with him. I believe him to be very reliable. Hope that helps. My best, WAR

Subject: Info

Hi! Just for your info... I got a call yesterday from an attorney friend in Juneau who is a big supporter of yours. Says you are doing a good job and are well liked. He compared you to Hammond or Egan with regard to political skookumness. His only concern was that you were becoming isolated from your supporters. He says your staff is keeping your friends away and that he, and others he did not mention, no longer hear from you and are unable to get through. He also was concerned about what he referred to as your reliance on your commissioners. He says his impression is that you aren't managing (or paying enough attention) to what is happening in the various departments that your commissioners are overseeing. I asked for an example and he mentioned the DOT, saying that it is going through "meltdown". I didn't ask for more particulars but if you will recall I sent you a bunch of information about the problems at DOT a number of months ago when I sent you info on Mary Caterinichilo's problems there. My contact did not know that I had done so nor did he know about Mary's problem, but apparently some of the problems I mentioned then about that department are becoming even more apparent to outsiders. His comment was that some/many of the commishs are simply coasting, waiting for when they can retire. Again what is interesting is that at the time I initially sent you the DOT info, Caterinichio made specific reference to the Commish of DOT being in that category. Mary complained that he didn't want to make waves so close to retirement, if I recall.

Just thought you'd like to have this info.

My best, WAR

By the way, your lady was quite prompt in getting back to our son, Greg, on the possibility of your speaking to the National Honor Society. Thanks. After I sent you that request, I realized that it might appear that Greg was a member of the NHS. In fact, Greg is a Social Studies teacher at Mears Junior High and he is in charge of that program.

We have already regretted your attendance on Feb. 27 due to scheduling, so you are NOT required to attend.

This would be a show of support for the organization.

Also listed as "honorary co-hosts" for this year's event are: Sens Murkowski and Stevens, Rep. Young and Mayor Begich.

For last year's event, all of the same individuals were listed as co-hosts, but you were the only one to actually attend.

Dear Governor Palin,

I am a Christian, wife of a retired military officer, Mom, former public school teacher & currently home school our three children. I have been a resident of MN, ND, AZ, & NY. I KNOW firsthand the effects of illegal immigrants on safety (I was almost assaulted by illegal farm workers while I was in college), had them try to break into my house in AZ, saw them overrun the schools & clinics in AZ. I also saw what BIG government did to nice places in upstate NY. Please tell me that you do not support John McCain & his amnesty ways. It is anti-American that we as Christians cannot be heard because of McCain/Feingold prior to elections when such matters need to be fresh in people's minds. Huckabee may have been a pastor, but he certainly does not seem to be conservative either in many ways. Yet, the news reports you as saying you would like to speak to McCain & Huckabee, what about Mitt Romney? Though I do not see eye to eye w/ Romney on everything including his religious affiliati on, but he is pro-life & he is strong on immigration & the economy. The most CONSERVATIVE candidate still in the race. I wish the others were as concerned about reaching the conservatives in their party as they are about embracing the democrat agenda. I hope you read this as well as the attached link & I would appreciate a repsonse.

Sincerely, Karen Bembenek

Hi

Cathy Giessel told me they (she and the rest of us except Randy probably) would like you to come open the convention and also talk at the Friday evening dinner. I met today with Joe Miller and Ralph Seekins. We were thinking it would be nice if you could open the convention and give a (little or big) hint that Randy needs to go. We are planning to vote to suspend the rules and vote him out. Cathy G. would make a great chairman and would be willing. It would really add a lot of momentum if you would give a hint in your opening speech. The pieces are in place now to be rid of him. We were always missing someone willing to take his place and in Cathy we have that. I hear Randy is afraid of the Ron Paul people who will likely be there in great numbers and they do not like Randy. With them to swell our ranks, the numbers look to be there. Ralph Seekins will be running for National Committeeman against Glen Clary, Randy's puppet. If Randy stays as the Chair, the party will continue to deteriorate.

Forget McCain & Romney; Why Not Sarah Palin for President?

After all, what's not to like about the talented, smart and efficient woman governor of Alaska?

That's what Alaskan voters of both parties conclude anyhow -- Sarah Palin, the youngest and the first female governor of the state, has been given approval ratings as high as 93%. Wow.

Those kind of numbers show Palin as not only the most popular governor in the nation but, almost certainly, one of the most popular politicians around.

Palin's high esteem comes from her eloquence, her energy and the fact that she brought character and integrity into what had been a torrid storm of political corruption in Alaska. Also, her support for government reform and the introduction of much-needed gas pipeline legislation have been winning the governor enthusiastic applause.

Governor Palin has a bachelor's degree in journalism from the University of Idaho but, thank goodness, she lives her life with much more common sense than most in that profession. Palin is the wife of a commercial fisherman and the mother of four children, the eldest of which joined the U.S. Army last fall. Palin is also a former beauty queen, cheerleader, musician, mayor, and was a point guard for the Wasilla High School Warriors when they won the state basketball championship in 1982.

And, oh yes, Sarah Palin is a lifetime member of the National Rifle Association and a strong defender of the sanctity of human life.

So, since John McCain and Mitt Romney have ended up as the choices produced by the primary system but both of these fellows are displeasing, perhaps even unacceptable, to many in the G.O.P., is it all that remarkable to look elsewhere? In the direction of Senator Tom Coburn? Senator Jon Kyl? Senator Sam Brownback? Senator Jim DeMint? Congressman Chris Smith? Congressman Mike Pence? Congressman Jeff Flake?

Or yes, Governor Sarah Palin?

One doesn't have to pay for wishes.

Governor,

I've attached updated talking points from the departments on Kenai River regs. They are too extensive for yours or my general use but they provide a lot of good meat for Sharon and others should people ask. I believe Tom is taking the lead on press, but thought you'd want to be armed.

I think the message is fairly simple: The regs protect the environmental quality of a valuable resource and we wanted more public comment on the outright ban of 2 strokes to determine whether we were over-regulating or creating an unreasonable burden on the moms and pops (who would have to go buy another engine).

For folks to suggest that the Governor is racist or not supportive of rural Alaska is far from accurate. Look at her family! The Governor made decisions to put the best people that we could find on a variety of boards including the BOG. We have every confidence that these people will work for all Alaskans. Additionally, there are two more vacancies on the BOG that will occur in 12 months, so maybe we can solicit for names and get a few solid candidates from the native community for the Governor to consider in the future.

I am sorry you feel the position you are in is bogus, I don't see it that way. I have been attempting through our discussions to give you the lay of the land on how things work best for the office and the most affective way to convey information to the Governor that is the most useful to her. So for you to conclude what you have about the job your in is a bit premature at best.

I hope we will continue to work for the best results for this office and to support the Governor the best we can.

Subject: Board of Game Appointmetns

Please. I would like to have some one respond to me about the Board of Game appointments.

This is a test to me of whether this job of Rural Advisor is truly a position – or bogus.
It appears to me that it is bogus, since I was not consulted in a decision of huge magnitude to Alaska Natives.

This decision will cause the governor a huge amount of ill will – especially with AGIA hanging in the balance.

Rural lawmakers were very helpful to her last year, but these appointments will be bitterly contested.

some. Or was this a done deal to begin with?

I certainly could have helped find

I am disappointed that I was not consulted. And find it unacceptable that I was left out of a decision of this magnitude.

Subsistence is the heart of Rural Alaska. Nothing could be more important. Nothing will cause more trouble than these appointments.

Dear Governor Palin,

I am a Christian, wife of a retired military officer, Mom, former public school teacher & currently home school our three children. I have been a resident of MN, ND, AZ, & NY. I KNOW firsthand the effects of illegal immigrants on safety (I was almost assaulted by illegal farm workers while I was in college), had them try to break into my house in AZ, saw them overrun the schools & clinics in AZ. I also saw what BIG government did to nice places in upstate NY. Please tell me that you do not support John McCain & his amnesty ways. It is anti-American that we as Christians cannot be heard because of McCain/Feingold prior to elections when such matters need to be fresh in people's minds. Huckabee may have been a pastor, but he certainly does not seem to be conservative either in many ways. Yet, the news reports you as saying you would like to speak to McCain & Huckabee, what about Mitt Romney? Though I do not see eye to eye w/ Romney on everything including his religious affiliati on, but he is pro-life & he is strong on immigration & the economy. The most CONSERVATIVE candidate still in the race. I wish the others were as concerned about reaching the conservatives in their party as they are about embracing the democrat agenda. I hope you read this as well as the attached link & I would appreciate a repsonse.

Sincerely, Karen Bembenek

Subject: use of the Governor's house

Governor,

House resources are provided for both the personal and official use of the First Family. You may host or approve any breakfast, lunch, dinner, tea, reception, or event to be held at the House and at state expense for all but a few exceptions. If you or the First Gentleman are not available to host an event either of you have approved, another state official, i.e., the Lt. Governor, departmental commissioner, or other state official may host on your behalf.

The following are the historical exceptions to state paid events:

When a political group has requested an event at the House, the group reimburses or pays directly for any costs associated with the event. (One thing to note is that you would need to approve similar event requests from all political parties. For instance you could not approve requests made by Republican groups and deny request from a Democratic group). This does NOT preclude you from inviting members of one particular political group to the House at state expense. For example, hosting the CCRW for tea, or lunch or inviting a particular legislative caucus for dinner. The distinction is when a partisan political group requests to use the House for their event or purpose. If the request is approved, the state is reimbursed any costs.

Another exception is when an organization, political or otherwise, uses the House for fund-raising purposes, i.e., the Friends of the Mansion Foundation fundraising receptions and events.

The last exception is use of the House or House resources for purely personal reasons unrelated to the First Family living there. An example of personal use would be a wedding at the House. There have been a few occasions where a wedding has taken place at the House but always at the expense of the bride and groom.

Historically all events at the House are approved by the Governor or First Spouse. That prevents the House from being used or perceived as being available as a free venue for organizations or special events.

I hope this helps clarify things.

I'll let Kris know that Judith enjoys working with her and Statehood events and wants to be more help to Kris.

I'll also let Joe B know they appreciate DNR's coordination with BLM on the historic trail project - and that they got cut out of our budget last year but are seeking (I think - not sure on amount) $200g for their 100th anniversary permanent trail marking/tourist/something... it's a match to Feds and private funding.

Below is Mayor Combs' letter in the ADN today and an email he sent today. He says, "I meant every word."

One mayor's view of presentation by Palin isn't shared by all

Regarding the article published Jan. 23, "Municipal leaders seek more attention," I would like to go on record that not all mayors share the views of Mayor Joe Williams of Ketchikan Gateway Borough or the current president of the Alaska Municipal League, Tim Beck.

I found the governor's presentation to be meaningful and concise, addressing the top two priorities of the league: PERS/TRS and state revenue sharing to municipalities. Gov. Sarah Palin's budget has increased the amount of municipal sharing by 50 percent and it appears we will finally reach an acceptable formula for PERS/TRS this session.

I am thankful for the hard work the governor is doing on our behalf and would much rather receive 20 minutes of genuine and factual information than hours of mindless rhetoric we have experienced in previous administrations.

Subject: Lunch with Veterans Service Organization Representatives on Monday

Governor:

It appears the veterans service organizations (VSO)'s have 5 legislative issues. They may want to talk about these on Monday during the lunch at the Mansion:

* Increase the state service officers grant funding by thirty thousand dollars. Costs for VSO reps to travel to rural areas has increased. (I believe our budget funds the grant at $621,000. The VSO's want it increased to $651,000) The state service officers work with veterans to make sure their rights to VA benefits are explained and assist them in filing the paperwork for VA benefits. They made 120 trips to over 40 Alaska communities and rural areas last year.

* Increase Disabled Veterans Property Tax Exemption. Since 1985, state law has mandated a property tax exemption for $150,000 for disabled vets. The VSO's want state law to be changed to increase the exemption to $250,000. Senator McGuire and Rep. Neuman have introduced legislation that would make this change. Neither bill has had any hearings since February, 2007.

* Community Based Clinic in Southeast. There are nearly 7,000 vets in southeast Alaska but no outpatient clinic. The VSO's support legislation or a resolution urging the VA to place an outpatient clinic in Southeast.

* Veterans Cemetery in Fairbanks. The VSO's support construction and maintenance of a veterans cemetery in Fairbanks.

* Support an Amendment to US Constitution to Protect the Flag. If an amendment to protect the flag ever passes Congress, VSO's want Alaska to be the first state to ratify it.

On a side note, a proclamation was issued in January proclaiming February, 2008, as the "40th anniversary of the Tet Offensive in the Vietnam War" and remembering the courage shown by veterans in fighting off the attack. We have several framed proclamations to give to them. (Most of the persons at the lunch are veterans of the Vietnam war).

Forget McCain & Romney; Why Not Sarah Palin for President?

After all, what's not to like about the talented, smart and efficient woman governor of Alaska?

That's what Alaskan voters of both parties conclude anyhow -- Sarah Palin, the youngest and the first female governor of the state, has been given approval ratings as high as 93%. Wow.

Those kind of numbers show Palin as not only the most popular governor in the nation but, almost certainly, one of the most popular politicians around.

Palin's high esteem comes from her eloquence, her energy and the fact that she brought character and integrity into what had been a torrid storm of political corruption in Alaska. Also, her support for government reform and the introduction of much-needed gas pipeline legislation have been winning the governor enthusiastic applause.

Governor Palin has a bachelor's degree in journalism from the University of Idaho but, thank goodness, she lives her life with much more common sense than most in that profession. Palin is the wife of a commercial fisherman and the mother of four children, the eldest of which joined the U.S. Army last fall. Palin is also a former beauty queen, cheerleader, musician, mayor, and was a point guard for the Wasilla High School Warriors when they won the state basketball championship in 1982.

And, oh yes, Sarah Palin is a lifetime member of the National Rifle Association and a strong defender of the sanctity of human life.

So, since John McCain and Mitt Romney have ended up as the choices produced by the primary system but both of these fellows are displeasing, perhaps even unacceptable, to many in the G.O.P., is it all that remarkable to look elsewhere? In the direction of Senator Tom Coburn? Senator Jon Kyl? Senator Sam Brownback? Senator Jim DeMint? Congressman Chris Smith? Congressman Mike Pence? Congressman Jeff Flake?

Or yes, Governor Sarah Palin?

One doesn't have to pay for wishes.

Mtg agenda will be the usual w/focus on budget - Denali Commission presentation. So conf-ing in works just fine. Thanks!

And this morning's ADN story... shhhheeeesh, what a tangled web.

The more I hear, the more I recall when I worked amongst them (Randy especially) at AOGCC, the more things fit together and lead to where we are today: we're trying to run an ethical, trustworthy ship... we have hugely vocal naysayers who are blind... But we're made out to be naive, we have people on board whom I still don't know well enough to trust... Arggghh. It's exciting! And clear to me how the process evolved and caught up with the state in regards to failed progress on gasline... And it's clear to me things will be revealed and made whole again in due time.

I just noticed the Cabinet meeting on Tuesday. Do you have a specific topic we're going to cover or is it a general catch up meeting?

At this juncture I had planned to be back in Juneau on Wednesday so thought I would attend the Cabinet meeting from ANC conference room (unless you want me there in person for something specific). Just let me know. Thanks.

Fyi,

How about a meeting at a favorite ice fishing hole? You and Todd can pop in on your snow machines in your Carhartts? That way they can continue to feel like real Alaskans. :)

Good luck with your visit with these guys. They seem intent on putting us in a bad light. Don't know the secret to getting them to give us the benefit of the doubt...Just be yourself and it will work out. We have the benefit of the truth on our side.

Gov. Murkowski stopped by Former Gov. Frank Murkowski stopped by the office for a chat on Wednesday.

He wanted to set the record straight on an AP story that was printed in the paper that day. But it strikes me that, post-election, he's been to the News-Miner office at least three times. Twice more than current Gov. Sarah Palin.

Gov. Sarah is booked for a visit in a few days, though, so the tally will soon be tied at two each — although one of these people is no longer in public office and managed to squeeze in a trip around the world between visits.

As he walked through the front door in his wide-brimmed hat, and wearing a red flannel shirt under a blazer, I couldn't help thinking about the first time I met Mr. Murkowski face-to-face.

I'd been in the state only a couple of years and a friend and I had navigated a bargain-basement riverboat loaded with decoys and a couple of rambunctious young Labradors out to a prime- looking duck hunting hole on Minto Flats.

Not long after we settled in, we saw a beautiful Grumman Widgeon land on a nearby lake. That afternoon a couple of older gentlemen came paddling an old canoe over to our camp. We shared some camp coffee and small talk about ducks we've shot and dogs we've known and they went on their way. We didn't share names.

"Nice old guys," my buddy said. He didn't know who they were.

I told him the one guy was U.S. Senator Frank Murkowski and the other was a pioneer Alaska aviator named Richard Wien — although i think I stumbled over Mr. Wien's name at the time. "That was their Widgeon," I said.

We agreed that we had moved to a pretty cool state if one of the first people you meet out duck hunting in the marsh is your U.S. senator. But, mostly, I remember my buddy got a big smile on his face and saying something like, "We must be in a good spot! Them old farts were over here checking us out!"

We had our disagreements with the Murkowski administration over the years, but Frank Murkowski has always known the value of face-to-face meetings — and he knows the good spots to have them.

I hope Gov. Palin picks up this skill while she's in office.

Importance: High

Dear Family and Friends,

As you know, Super Tuesday is right around the corner and I would be remiss if I didn't take this opportunity to not only remind you to vote, but to let you know who I am supporting in this election (in case you hadn't already heard). Back in the early summer, both Scott and I made our choice to support Mike Huckabee for the Republican nomination on the Presidential ticket. And I want to take a moment and tell you our reasoning behind our decision. When we first heard Mike speak, he was the "no name" in the race. When I told people who I was going to vote for, their response was "who?". But that didn't matter to us. We didn't decide which candidate to support based on who "can beat" Obama or Clinton. We went with our convictions. For at the end of the day, I refuse to cast my ballot solely on the basis of who I think will win. We are called as Christians to vote for that person that aligns with our beliefs. Now, don't get me wrong. They have to be qualified. They have to have a good track record. They have to know what they are doing. But their character, their love for our Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ, weighs heavily in our decision making process.

So, here are a few things you need to know about Huckabee. You of course can visit his website at www.mikehucakabee.com, however if you don't have the time to do that, I wanted to make sure you are knowledgeable on his platform and stance on pertinent issues.

- Huckabee is the candidate with the most executive political experience, having been Governor of Arkansas for 10 1/2 years.
- He is a true fiscal conservative. Having been left with a $200,000,000 deficit in Arkansas' budget, he turned it around to a $850,000,000 surplus at the end of his term.
- He is a strong supporter of the Fair Tax.
- He supports Americans For Tax Relief. He has also signed a "no-new taxes" pledge.

10/29/2009

- He is the ONLY candidate endorsed by the Georgia Right to Life PAC (political action committee). In fact, he spent his political capital fighting for the sanctity of life.
- 2nd Amendment ~ He is the highest rated candidate with the NRA, is a lifelong hunter and a true defender of this Amendment.
- He is the first of ALL candidates in this election to sign the "No Amnesty" Pledge. Please see below for a press release on this important issue:

On January 16th, Governor Mike Huckabee became the first presidential candidate to sign Americans for Better Immigration's "No-Amnesty" Pledge.

Roy Beck, President of Americans for Better Immigration had this to say regarding Governor Huckabee's Pledge: "Every candidate claims to oppose amnesty, but few define amnesty the way most Americans do. I applaud Gov. Huckabee for defining amnesty correctly, and for pledging to fully enforce laws that would take away the jobs and benefits magnets that draw illegal aliens here - and that keep them here." "What a contrast to Sen. McCain, Sen. Clinton and Sen. Obama, for example, who say they reject amnesty and then, in almost the same breath, say that most illegal aliens will have to be allowed to stay permanently. All three have repeatedly voted for amnesty. In the past week, Sen. McCain and Mayor Giuliani have clarified on national TV that they intend for most illegal aliens to be granted the very things they broke immigration laws to steal: an American job and U.S. residency". Governor Huckabee understands his pledge to mean that:

1. The 12 million illegal aliens now here will have to go home.
2. They will not get any legal status while here that allows them to remain long-term.
3. Once in their home countries, they may apply for re-admittance to the U.S. as immigrants, visitors or temporary workers through normal channels. However, they will not receive any special privileges on the basis of their having been in the U.S. illegally, such as being put to the front of a line.
4. There will be no new categories or programs through which they may re-enter.
5. There will not be an expansion of green cards in any existing categories that will speed up their movement to the front of the line.

Some additional tidbits about Mike:

- Mike spent a significant part of his adult life as a pastor.
- He became the youngest president ever of the Arkansas Baptist State Convention.
- Author of five books, including "Quit Digging Your Grave With a Knife and Fork" about his battle with obesity and how he managed to lose 105 pounds through diet and exercise.
- Married to Janet and has three children.

Now, some of you might be wondering how Huckabee stands up to the other candidates in the race. Since that is an important question and one you need to be knowledgeable in, I have researched each candidate's platform and how they agree and disagree on issues. Please see below:

ABORTION

Huckabee:

Huckabee supports a constitutional amendment to protect life from the time of conception. He praised the Supreme Court ruling upholding a ban on partial birth abortion. The governor also opposes embryonic stem cell funding, saying it amounts to creating a life only then to take it away.

McCain:

McCain believes Roe vs.. Wade should be overturned, and that the abortion question should be left to the individual states to legislate.

Romney:

Romney says Roe vs.. Wade should be overturned. He believes decisions on abortion are best left to the states and that "a single federal rule" is wrong. In the past, he broadly supported abortion rights and Roe vs. Wade. He has since changed his position regarding the role of government in such matters.

ENERGY/ENVIRONMENT

Huckabee:

Huckabee wants to conserve and use alternative energy like nuclear, wind, solar, hydrogen, clean coal, bio-diesel, and biomass. He plans to set aside a federal research and development budget that will be matched by the private sector to research alternative fuels. He says energy independence will make the U.S. safer. He supports offshore drilling and oil exploration in Alaska's Arctic National Wildlife Refuge.

McCain:

McCain wants to see more investment in alternative-energy sources such as nuclear power, ethanol, fuel cells, bio-diesel, and natural gas. He believes ethanol will play a big part in energy independence. McCain is the chief co-sponsor of a bill that sets mandatory caps on greenhouse emissions. His plan would allow companies to trade excess carbon emission capacity, and would require emissions to return to 2004 levels by 2012 and to 1990 levels by 2020.

Romney:

Romney proposes using a combination of conservation and efficiency measures to make the U.S. energy independent. He supports greater public investment in the development of alternative sources of energy like bio-diesel, ethanol, nuclear and coal gasification. He supports drilling for oil in Alaska's Arctic National Wildlife Refuge and on the Outer Continental Shelf. He opposes carbon taxes.

IMMIGRATION

Huckabee:

Huckabee became the first presidential candidate to sign Americans for Better Immigration's "No-Amnesty" Pledge (see above for details). He wants to secure and police the border and supports erecting an electric or physical barrier along the U.S.-Mexico border.

McCain:

He wants to develop a guest worker program that allows illegal immigrants to earn legitimate status. McCain sponsored the 2006 comprehensive immigration reform bill. Had it passed, it would have allowed some illegal immigrants already in the U.S. to work and apply to become legal residents after learning English, paying fines and back taxes, and clearing a background check. McCain wants a comprehensive immigration reform bill that would improve border surveillance and enforcement, strengthen penalties against those who hire illegal immigrants, and stop document fraud.

10/29/2009

Romney:

Romney opposed the McCain-Kennedy immigration bill of 2006, saying it would have opened a door to a vast number of immigrants and allow "amnesty" for illegals. Romney says the U.S. must become more attractive for legal immigrants, and champions greater use of H1B visas to bring in skilled workers. He promotes harsher penalties for employers who knowingly hire illegal immigrants and wants to create an employment verification system that uses high-tech identification cards. He supports building a fence on the U.S.-Mexico border.

IRAQHuckabee:

Huckabee supported Bush's troop surge in Iraq. He believes that going into Iraq with too few troops was a mistake, and opposes Democratic efforts to set a deadline for withdrawal. Huckabee says the U.S. must finish the job now or go back and do it all over again someday. He proposes a Middle East summit so that Iraq's neighbors become militarily and financially committed to stabilizing their neighborhood.

McCain:

McCain thinks Bush's strategy in Iraq can succeed, and that if the U.S. fails to stabilize Iraq now, the threat of terrorism against American interests will grow. McCain has strongly criticized Democrats who support a troop withdrawal timeline, but has also criticized the administration for mishandling the war.

Romney:

Romney has criticized the Bush administration for committing errors in Iraq, but supports the current troop surge strategy. He opposes an early withdrawal from Iraq, and has described Democratic attempts to set a deadline for withdrawal as "setting a date for surrender." He believes a quick withdrawal from Iraq, before the country has been stabilized, could trigger a larger regional conflict.

TAXESHuckabee:

Huckabee is a strong supporter of the Fair Tax. He supported the Bush tax cuts and would make them permanent. Huckabee would also reduce the tax burden of those with the lowest incomes. He regrets that Republicans have all too often perceived as favoring the wealthy with their tax policies. He signed a no-new taxes pledge in March of 2007.

McCain:

McCain says tax cuts work best in conjunction with lower spending. He blames excessive spending for Republican losses in the 2006 elections. McCain was one of two Republican senators to oppose the 2001 tax cuts, arguing that too many of the benefits went to the most fortunate at the expense of the middle class. He also opposed the 2003 tax cuts. McCain says he would not raise taxes, but that he would not go as far as to sign a pledge to that effect. He believes a repeal of the estate tax isn't necessary.

Romney:

Romney believes the Bush tax cuts should be made permanent, and that even more tax cuts should be offered. He also says he will fight to abolish the estate tax. Romney backs a savings incentive plan that would allow Americans to earn interest, dividends, and capital gains tax-free. He would also lower the corporate tax rate. Romney signed the 2008

10/29/2009

presidential candidate "Taxpayer Protection Pledge," been critical of similar no-tax pledges in the past.

even though he has

ECONOMY

Huckabee:

Huckabee supports tax rebates and curbing federal spending, to include adopting the line-item veto. He is also in favor the FairTax and the elimination of the IRS, which he says will increase both the likelihood that American companies will invest domestically and that foreign companies will invest in America.

McCain:

McCain proposes to cut the corporate tax rate from 35% to 25%, which in his opinion is essential to the United States competitiveness and would expand the economy and lead to higher wages. He proposes to allow the First Year Deduction of Equipment and Technological Investments and wants to establish a permanent tax credit equal to 10% of wages spent on Research and Development.

Romney:

Romney proposes simplifying regulations and bureaucratic processes for businesses in addition to tort reform, saying that both issues keep businesses from seeking out and retaining employees. He wants to curb federal spending by establishing a spending limit and by instituting the line-item veto to cut out unnecessary expenditures. Romney says to avoid a pending budget crisis, the federal government must trim down entitlement spending.

HOMELAND SECURITY

Huckabee:

Huckabee plans to remove FEMA from the Department of Homeland Security and give the organization cabinet status, so that the FEMA director will report directly to the president. He plans to streamline the Department of Homeland Security, to make it more efficient and effective. He wants to increase chemical plan and port security standards at the federal level, but give states the right to make and enforce stricter-than-federal port standards.

McCain:

McCain plans to strengthen the military, shore up alliances and continue to protect our homeland in any crisis that comes our way.

Romney:

Romney wants to clarify and streamline relationships with domestic security-related operations to enable clearer communication and more decisive action. He wants to increase the size of the U.S. army by 100,000 troops. Romney wants to shift the focus of homeland security from response to prevention. He says effective prevention means that stronger international alliances and integration of federal actions with global and local efforts.

EDUCATION

Huckabee:

Huckabee favors strong support of arts and music education as a part of normal, traditional curriculum, saying that these aspects of education contribute to a future generation of creative workers, enabling America to compete more rigorously in a global economy. He supports home schooling, charter schools, and school choice programs. Huckabee wants to curb federal intervention in state school programs; with regard to NCLB (No Child Left Behind), allowing states to develop their own benchmarks for measuring success.

McCain:

McCain proposes to pursue reforms addressing underlying cultural problems in our educational system.

Romney:

Romney is in favor of charter schools and school choice programs. He wants to put more of an emphasis on math and science education. He is proposing a federal home schooling tax credit to help reduce education-related expenses of parents who home school. He supports Bush's NCLB (No Child Left Behind) and wants to offer schools with good testing track records more leeway in evaluating student performance.

HEALTH CARE

Huckabee:

Huckabee wants to completely overhaul the health care system, but opposes universal federal healthcare. He wants to adopt policies that encourage innovation in the private sector to bring down costs and subsequently improve free market access to healthcare. He wants to decrease medical liability, make health insurance deductible for individuals, and make health insurance more easily portable from job to job.

McCain:

McCain proposes bringing costs under control and allowing individuals to control their health care costs and care and providing access to all citizens. In order to do this, he proposes to completely reform the nature of the current system. Examples include: competition between providers, states given the flexibility with Medicare costs, development of safe routes for cheaper generic versions of prescriptions. He also proposes to pass tort reform to eliminate frivolous lawsuits. He would also reform the tax code to provide an increase of $2,500 tax credit as an incentive for insurance coverage.

Romney:

Romney wants to make all health care expenses tax deductible and divert some funds from emergency rooms treating uninsured patients to programs that would help needy uninsured patients to buy private insurance. He also favors malpractice tort reform. Romney supports giving states leeway as to how they spend their Medicaid funds.

As you can see, there are some similarities with the candidates and some who have flip-flopped on important issues. I hope this has helped in your making a decision as to who to support in the Presidential race.

Now, some housekeeping items:

Huckabee Yard Signs ~ If you would like one (it's not too late to put one out), I've got some. Just let me know and we can figure out how to get it to you.

E-Mail Lists ~ If you find this e-mail helpful, please forward it to your family and friends. In addition, if you want to receive updates from Huckabee's campaign, just visit his website a www.mikehuckabee.com and click on Georgians for Huckabee to sign up for the e-mails.

In closing, there is one more thing I want you to know. I don't send these e-mails to fill up your Inbox. I promise you as a mother of two little ones, I can easily fill three hours doing something else than researching and sending you these facts. In fact, there is a sink full of dirty dishes and a pile of dirty laundry, just calling out my name. :) The reason I do this is because I am passionate about this. Not politics. Don't get me wrong. There are things I enjoy about politics. And there are things I hate. What I am passionate about is when someone stands out above the rest because of his character, his humbleness, his experience and his love for our Lord. And in finding that person, I feel it is my responsibility to let others know about him. Many are wondering why I have even taken the time to send this, since Huckabee is third in the polls. God is bigger than poll numbers. And if He wants Huckabee to win, then he will. If He doesn't, then he won't. But that doesn't and shouldn't stop us for being obedient and making our voices heard at the polls on Tuesday.

And if you have actually gotten to the end of this e-mail - thank you for taking time to read it. I know it was lengthy, but hopefully worth it. As always, please don't hesitate to contact me if you have any questions.

Blessings,

Lori

The Honorable Governor Sarah Palin,

Thank you for coming to Seward for the Centennial of the Iditarod. People were very impressed with your fortitude towards the cold and wind! Here are some pictures I took of the event. Again, thank you for coming to Seward and we hope to have you back soon. You might also look on sewardcitynews.com where there is a video clip posted.

MESSAGE:

Dear Governor Palin,

I just wanted to take a few minutes to thank you for taking the time out of your busy schedule and life to drive down to Seward today to join us in celebrating the Centennial of the Iditarod. We are all very touched and inspired by your efforts on our behalf. I hope your drive back was as easy as the drive down.

I would also like to recap our conversation if I may. I am indeed working very hard amongst the conservation community to focus on common ground and promoting projects rather than always seeming to oppose projects. As you can imagine it is an uphill battle but I can definitely see progress being made. With my leadership positions in the conservation community I hope to bring more leaders from around our great state to more moderate stances.

I will continue promoting utilizing the railbelt ROW and ARCC for potential wind generation siting as you suggested. I will continue the dialogue with your cabinet and hope you will promote it from above as well. It would be so nice to see our own public corp, ARRC promoting renewable energies rather than strictly coal.

We also spoke of the President of Iceland's vision and how it inspired us both. After you raised the question and contemplating it for a while I believe it was the high cost of fuel which swung the public and political climate in Iceland to support their renewable energy development. So perhaps with our ever rising fuel costs these projects will become viable and receive broader support as time passes. Every time fuel costs go up I figure alternatives are coming down. So it seems we are on the right track, its just a matter of time. I really appreciate all of your efforts towards promoting renewable projects statewide. Please know I am at your service if you should ever have any suggestions.

We also spoke of the shipyard and the need to tighten up regulations to prevent shipyard pollution. Ketchikan, Sitka, and now Seward's shipyards have all been declared contaminated sites. This is directly due to lack of containment which is allowed by loose regulations such as the "reasonable precautions" language in the fugitive dust regs. Prevention is key and it is obvious we will be developing new ports and marine facilities in the future. We must learn from our mistakes. All of the other coastal states have gone through this same transition after winding up with contaminated shipyards. So we have great models to follow. I will continue working with Joe and Larry on this effort.

Tributyltin, the element of concern detected in all of the shipyard samples is, as I mentioned, now banned globally, and has been banned in Alaska for 8 years, yet is still appearing everywhere we look. As I also mentioned I believe the Alaska Marine Highway Ferries and USCG vessels may still utilize this most toxic substance. Without total containment of waste generating activities the contamination can only get worse in time. And without even a lab in Alaska capable of analyzing samples for TBT we have a real challenge before us. UAF and the Sealife Center just started a study of TBT in mussels from a number of locations around the state including near our shipyard's long term beach dumpsite for their waste. I am in this for the long term and will continue doing whatever I can to raise awareness of these issues.

My grandson, Hunter was so proud of your attention. He was even shown driving a sled on the news tonight! He is such a serious young man. I am really proud of him. His science teacher invited me to speak to the class about conservation issues. As you are, I am dedicated to making this world a better place for our future generations. The most compelling moment in my life was when Chief Joe Linklater of the Gwich'in in Old Crow, YT spoke addressed Congress last year and said, "this land is for those not yet born", then he paused for at least 2 minutes before continuing his testimony. There wasn't a dry eye in the chamber.

Again, thank you so much for coming today. And please if there is ever anything you can think of that I might do for the benefit of the state just call me. I stand ready to serve.

Thanks for all of your efforts on behalf of our great state, and all of us lucky enough to call it home.

Respectfully,

Russ Maddox

Mike- pls add to tomorrow's Cabinet agenda: update from Rhonda on rural issues she's encountering w/her job (pls let her know we'll request this update - if she's in Anchorage it'll be via conf-ing in), and Mindy w/an update on legislation in the hopper and what she's hearing from leggies on any of our initiatives. Any head's up she can give commissioners re: leggies activities we need to know about. Thanks

Also, I'm inviting whomever wants to come over to Gov's House tomorrow evening to watch Super Tuesday results be broadcast. We have a tv downstairs and food. I'll ask Mindy to let leggies know they're welcome to come over (Ivy's doing the same), and I want our staff to know they're invited too... Remind me to let them know at Cabinet mtg - but also let them know today via email (I'll cc Janice so she can invite them). There's food over there. It'll be good.

Governor:

I have two presentations for the Cabinet meeting tomorrow:

1) It will take at least 60 days for SU to conduct a strike vote. We won't know if they intend to do that until after the arbitrator's decision (on the Class One employees who cannot strike) later today. Privileged or Personal Material Redacted

Privileged or Personal Material Redacted Privileged or Personal Material Redacted Privileged or At the Cabinet meeting, I'll be passing out the strike plans last done in 1996 and asking Commissioners to update them, first with SU in mind, and second - they need to be refreshed as a whole anyway. I'll have the lists of SU employees by department for each Commissioner, and a list of SU members by community location (trying to anticipate how Commissioners will want to see information).

We will have the arbitrator's decision on Class One employees and I'll be sharing highlights from that. I may not talk strategy in front of the whole Cabinet if you have not been briefed privately prior to the Cabinet meeting.

2) The second presentation is the roll out of the AO 237 Working Group report to the Cabinet. I'll have binders for each Cabinet member, one for the Press Office, for Anna Kim-Special Assistant with DOA responsibilities; and, of course for you and Mike. I'll be doing a private briefing with union management after the Cabinet meeting and then it will go up on the web with a media release.

Governor Palin, I reside in St. Louis, Missouri but I subscribe to Alaska Magazine. Very nice article (Jan 08). We have a republican Governor (Blunt-R) who has made many tough decisions and did an incredible job (in my opinion) getting Missouri back together again with a balanced budget, etc, etc. Your philosophy and rationale for becoming Governor is in many ways similar to his. Anyway, I have not yet been to Alaska but I would love to someday soon. I have even imagined moving there but I must get the older boys into college first (3 years). I have spent the last 20 years of my career in the Environmental Compliance industry and I am currently the Director of Sustainable Development for a chemical company here in St. Louis.

Did you know that the average annual temperature in Fairbanks, AK is not too different from that in St. Louis?

Having written/given many presentations of my own, I am wondering what you are looking for in a speech writer? Must you live locally?

Anyway - nice article. Good luck.

May I respectfully ask that you give great consideration to endorsing Gov. Mike Huckabee for the Republican nominee for President.

After 10 1/2 years as Governor of Arkansas, Gov. Huckabee has a proven record of working hard for his people. He lowered taxes, rebuilt the state's infrastructure, tackled education and moved Arkansas from 49th lowest performance in the nation to 9th in the nation. He has bold new ideas, and contagious hope for the future of this country. I believe he has the core beliefs to lead the way on getting a handle on health care costs, sealing our borders and working for a common sense solution to the millions of illegals in this country.

Your time is valuable. I thank you for it, and I thank you for considering an endorsement for Gov. Mike Huckabee. I sincerely believe he is the only person who can hold the white house for the Republicans and maybe restore the Republican majorities in the House and Senate.

Respectfully

Reta Tharp

Dear Governor Palin,

I am a Republican college student in San Diego, CA and a strong supporter of Mike Huckabee's presidential campaign. It has come to my attention that you are considering endorsing Gov. Huckabee. I hope that you will take a brief moment to read my message.

As a conservative Republican voter, I decided to support Governor Huckabee when I first found out about him back in September 2007. I believe that he is the only remaining Republican candidate that conservative Republican voters can trust. He has consistently supported the protection of life, traditional marriage and second amendment rights. The other candidates have mixed records on these and several issues.

Gov. Huckabee also supports opening ANWR, which would reduce our dependency on foreign oil. McCain has clearly stated that we should not open ANWR.

I know that there are many Alaskans working hard for Huckabee at the grassroots level and I'm sure that they would be thrilled to have your support. There are also several of us that would love to have a Huckabee/Palin ticket this November. :)

I hope that you and Gov. Huckabee will be able to talk sometime soon. :)

Sincerely,

Grant Castro

I am writing to request your endorsement of Mike Huckabee for president.

He is a good man and has the most executive experience of any presidential candidate. His record in Arkansas as governor for 10.5 years shows a man committed to serving the people and putting their interests above his own political ambitions, making advances in conservation and infrastructure, keeping taxes low and balancing the budget, all while working with a 90% democrat legislature.

He he has the goal of energy independence within 10 years and would work toward tapping our own sources of energy to free us from Saudi oil. This would include opening up ANWR as well as building new refineries among other things.

Please support Mike Huckabee for president.

I will have Janice Mason get in touch regarding the Governor's schedule. The first part of the week is fairly packed. It might be easier to set up a time with me and Nizich and have the Governor stop in for a few minutes, if possible. Look forward to seeing you in Juneau.

Hello Mike,

I hope the session is going well for you thus far. 90 days will be interesting.

I will be in Juneau next week for a few days and was wondering if it would be possible to get a few moments with Governor Palin to thank her for her support for Arctic Power? I would, of course, also like to discuss increasing the appropriation for FY2009 and our reasoning for the request. I met with John Katz and Larry Persily late last fall and had a very good discussion about the role of Arctic Power after the fall elections. Paula Easley will also be in town and would like to attend the meeting if we are able to get a few moments. I get into Juneau Monday morning and leave Wednesday at noon. I am available anytime that works and recognize the Governor's time is extremely valuable and limited. I also want to meet with you and Mike Nizich to discuss the issue and again recognize time and schedule limitations.

Thank you.

Best regards,

Mike Navarre

Habitat will be very low-key bc it's going to be very controversial, as interpreted by Tzach - I spoke with him this morning at explained a bit of all this - so it can be covered tomorrow, and we do need a Fish and Game official there during that explanation (Denby or Ken Taylor or anyone), along with Dick Lefbvre... But if particular people mentioned can't make it then they need subs so I'm not left explaining their evaluation results myself.

The online checkbook unveiling has to be done on the 10th floor (Admin) - they have a presentation that needs to be routed through their technical set-up. They would like to do it tomorrow. Can we have the Habitat announcement on Wed? I am still waiting to see if Denby will be in Juneau.

I am asking for your support for Mike Huckabee by endorsing him for his candidacy for President. I myself support former Governor Huckabee for the same reasons I supported you in your candidacy for the Governor and as I still continue to support you. He possess the same integrity and principles that you have shown in support for prolife, marriage amendment, ANWR, fiscal conservatism, 2nd amendment and the list goes on. He is a life long and avid hunter, pilot, fisherman and you may well know a marathon runner. He truly is in my opinion the best not only to represent our Nation but our own state of Alaska as an outdoorsman. I truly trust this man with the same respect that I trust you as a person and our Governor. Thank you for you time in your busy schedule to take time to read this email.

Dear Governor Sarah Palin,

I am the organizer for the Mike Huckabee for President 2008 Meetup group in North Pole.

I started this group in order to find other members to volunteer to help gain local support for Mike Huckabee in the area knowing that his campaign has very limited funds for advertising.

I pray that you will thoughtfully consider endorsing Mike Huckabee. I believe with all my heart that he is an exceptional candidate that by far the most qualified candidate running on either side. He is honest and very intelligent and I believe would be every bit as fiscally conservative as you are.

I was born in Eagle Alaska and have lived here my entire life. I love this state and am proud to be an Alaskan. I want a president who appreciates a states right to decide what is best for it's people and not a legislator who would impose federal mandates or oppose the drilling in ANWR.

I also want a president who believes that our nation can set high standards and achieve goals such as energy independence and the Fair Tax plan that would benefit all of us but most importantly it would benefit our poorest. The other candidates continuously say that the Fair Tax is a great idea but not likely to happen. Mike Huckabee says we will make it happen. I believe that if elected he will.

I have great respect for you and believe that you truly have Alaskas best interests at heart and I think that Mike Huckabee possesses that same rare quality. Sincerely,

Rena Cook

BTW Janet Huckabee is in Anchorage and she actually called to thank me for my efforts. I was impressed by her graciousness.

MESSAGE:

Recent news stated that you are considering both McCain and Huckabee as your choice for President at this time. May I respectfully suggest you consider further?

Mike Huckabee's support is not just from Evangelicals as the media is trying to convince us to believe- it is from free thinking people that favor issues held dear in the hearts of most Alaskans. The Second Ammendment, the First Ammendment, and as our Alaskan Governer what should be your favorite Ammendment, the Tenth - STATES RIGHTS !!

He understands the value of ANWR to our nation as we grow towards energy independence. He also sees the benefit of our natural gas to help us reach that national goal.

Mike Huckabee's 'agenda' is to benefit YOUR KIDS, and as Governer you shoud recognize the benefit to YOUR STATE. (sounds similar to a lady that ran for Governer and won up here not too long ago!)

I implore you, before the Alaska caucuses on Tuesday, publicly endorse Mike Huckabee - so all our state knows that you care less about those IN POWER, but more about those of us lowly voters that have empowered you to speak on our behalf!

You say a Governer's endorsement means little...I think you are under-estimating the respect that most Alaskans have for you. Please endorse your fellow Governor, Mike Huckabee.

Thank you for your outstanding service to the State of Alaska,

Respectfully Submitted,

Warren Searle

She's be great, and really the job isn't based in Juneau - I went 'round and 'round with Tibbles on that, explaining it'd be too tough to find a flexible individual if we forced him or her to stay full-time in Juneau (same issue we face trying to fill so many positions), so this position (along with most others) will be flexible. Remeber that outside the Leg session, no one's really in the capitol bldg, certainly no media. They're mostly in Anchorage. If you want to talk to Priviled let me know Privileged or Personal Material Talked to Rep Buch today. He conveyed he was upset about the BOG appointments too. I let him know that you received 3 names from AFN and 2 of those names were conflicted out. I went on to say you tried for several days to get a hold of the 3rd nominee that you were very interested in talking to, but had no luck getting a hold of him and had to go with someone else. He was appreciative of the response.

Anyway, he asked that I pass on that he would like you to touch base with Mary Nelson, Reggie Joule, and Woodie Salmon, but specifically Mary. He thinks they would appreciate hearing this response too. I've copied the governor incase she runs into any of these guys in the hall in the mean time and is caught off guard.

I thought the news coverage was good tonight. Bill did a good job conveying you and the governor don't consider candidates based on race, and that Sitka and Tok are rural.

MESSAGE:

Dear Governor Palin,

I just wanted to take a few minutes to thank you for taking the time out of your busy schedule and life to drive down to Seward today to join us in celebrating the Centennial of the Iditarod. We are all very touched and inspired by your efforts on our behalf. I hope your drive back was as easy as the drive down.

I would also like to recap our conversation if I may. I am indeed working very hard amongst the conservation community to focus on common ground and promoting projects rather than always seeming to oppose projects. As you can imagine it is an uphill battle but I can definitely see progress being made. With my leadership positions in the conservation community I hope to bring more leaders from around our great state to more moderate stances.

I will continue promoting utilizing the railbelt ROW and ARCC for potential wind generation siting as you suggested. I will continue the dialogue with your cabinet and hope you will promote it from above as well. It would be so nice to see our own public corp, ARRC promoting renewable energies rather than strictly coal.

We also spoke of the President of Iceland's vision and how it inspired us both. After you raised the question and contemplating it for a while I believe it was the high cost of fuel which swung the public and political climate in Iceland to support their renewable energy development. So perhaps with our ever rising fuel costs these projects will become viable and receive broader support as time passes. Every time fuel costs go up I figure alternatives are coming down. So it seems we are on the right track, its just a matter of time. I really appreciate all of your efforts towards promoting renewable projects statewide. Please know I am at your service if you should ever have any suggestions.

We also spoke of the shipyard and the need to tighten up regulations to prevent shipyard pollution. Ketchikan, Sitka, and now Seward's shipyards have all been declared contaminated sites. This is directly due to lack of containment which is allowed by loose regulations such as the "reasonable precautions" language in the fugitive dust regs. Prevention is key and it is obvious we will be developing new ports and marine facilities in the future. We must learn from our mistakes. All of the other coastal states have gone through this same transition after winding up with contaminated shipyards. So we have great models to follow. I will continue working with Joe and Larry on this effort.

Tributyltin, the element of concern detected in all of the shipyard samples is, as I mentioned, now banned globally, and has been banned in Alaska for 8 years, yet is still appearing everywhere we look. As I also mentioned I believe the Alaska Marine Highway Ferries and USCG vessels may still utilize this most toxic substance. Without total containment of waste generating activities the contamination can only get worse in time. And without even a lab in Alaska capable of analyzing samples for TBT we have a real challenge before us. UAF and the Sealife Center just started a study of TBT in mussels from a number of locations around the state including near our shipyard's long term beach dumpsite for their waste. I am in this for the long term and will continue doing whatever I can to raise awareness of these issues.

My grandson, Hunter was so proud of your attention. He was even shown driving a sled on the news tonight! He is such a serious young man. I am really proud of him. His science teacher invited me to speak to the class about conservation issues. As you are, I am dedicated to making this world a better place for our future generations. The most compelling moment in my life was when Chief Joe Linklater of the Gwich'in in Old Crow, YT spoke addressed Congress last year and said, "this land is for those not yet born", then he paused for at least 2 minutes before continuing his testimony. There wasn't a dry eye in the chamber.

Again, thank you so much for coming today. And please if there is ever anything you can think of that I might do for the benefit of the state just call me. I stand ready to serve.

Thanks for all of your efforts on behalf of our great state, and all of us lucky enough to call it home.

Respectfully,

Russ Maddox

MESSAGE:

Governor Palin,

Where is the Alaskan peoples voice being represented with respect to the direction of Fish & Game?

With the latest appointments to the board it is evident that your administration has an agenda to hear only from the people that are in favor of predatory control. Your latest bill to make it more difficult for conservation groups to sue the state of Alaska indicates that you do not seem to understand that it is not just conservation groups that are against predatory control; it is the voters of Alaska who have twice voted down aerial wolf hunting.

Where is our voice with respect to Fish & Game's direction? Will your administration not listen to the seasoned biologists who were hired as experts by the state when they speak out that there is no viable science supporting this type of species control? Furthermore, it is my understanding that these biologists who are employed by Fish & Game are being reprimanded for voicing their opinions on both aerial wolf hunting and the unethical hunting of Katmai bears. Is this what we call open debate? Is this transparent governing?

Many of the policies of Fish & Game for the past 2 years are taking the State of Alaska backwards.

Is there anyone listening to the voters voice?

Governor,

We'll have the House ready for Tuesday with tv screens, food and the works!

Sorry that there's the issue of OT and burdening the staff; this is traditionally the "busy" time of the year for us and receptions, meetings, lunches, dinners, coffee/desserts, etc... are what we expect to take place at the House. That's just part of our job; we're always happy and available to come in- the House is here to provide these services for the Governor. With that said, we'll have everything ready to go for tomorrow night!! IF you change your mind just call me- I'm 3 minutes away!! :)

Thanks,

Erika

FIGHTING FOR YOUR BUSINESS

Enough Trial Lawyer Whining

By Tom Donohue

There has been increasing whining from trial lawyers about the impact of "interest group politics" on state supreme court elections. In particular, there is a lot of moaning about "conflicts of interests" coming from judges having to raise money to run for office. The real problem is that trial lawyers are the biggest special interest group of all--and they are annoyed that they don't have this branch of state government all to themselves anymore.

ISER Research Matters No. 28. Alaska's Construction Spending: 2008 Forecast
February 4, 2008

Construction spending in Alaska will total about $7 billion in 2008, down 2% from 2007, according to the new construction spending forecast by Scott Goldsmith and Mary Killorin of ISER. The forecast is prepared annually for the Construction Industry Progress Fund and the Associated General Contractors of Alaska. Other findings include:

- At $4.6 billion, spending by private industry will make up 66% of total 2008 construction spending. Private-industry spending is up 2% from last year, with projected growth in the oil and gas, mining, utilities, and other basic sectors.
- Public agencies are expected to spend $2.4 billion, or 34% of total construction spending. That's a drop of 8% from 2007, mostly because the federal government will spend less for military construction in Alaska this year. Construction spending by state and local governments is expected to increase about 12%.
- The oil and gas industry will spend the most—about $2.9 billion, or 5% more than in 2007. That spending alone accounts for $4 of every $10 in construction spending. Most spending will be on the North Slope, but something in the range of 10% will be in Cook Inlet.
- Residential construction spending is expected to drop 35% in 2008. But unlike in many parts of the U.S., the drop is not due to problems associated with the sub-prime mortgage market. It's mostly because housing prices in Alaska have been rising faster than incomes—so the supply of houses exceeds the demand. That's a temporary imbalance, because Alaska's housing market is basically sound. Housing construction will slow down until demand can absorb the excess supply that accumulated in 2007.

Copies of the forecast are available online from ISER and the Associated General Contractors (www.agcak.org).

Hard copies are also available from Associated General Contractors; call 907-561-5354.

Dear Sarah,

As you may have already heard, there was a suicide at Mt. Edgecumbe High School last night. Her name was Rachelle George from Bethel, age 16. She was my daughter's close friend and next door neighbor in their dorm at MEHS. My daughter Allie had a front row seat to all the commotion due to her closeness and now she is devastated. She called me crying around 11pm last night when all the police and medics were there. I was in shock, I couldn't believe that this was happening to us. She thinks that it was her fault, that she should have stayed with her in her room. I told her, it's not your fault, we didn't know. She is not comfortless though. The support staff at MEHS is working very hard to make sure the kids are okay, although I am scared of the possibility of copycat suicides - remember Alakanuk? Anyway, the issue of dropping out of school and coming home has reared its head. I mean, who wants to live next to an empty room where your friend used to live and is no longer there? All the memories, the laughs, etc. They used to go to breakfast together. I pray to God that she will not drop out and I pray that everything will be okay and that she will decide for herself to stay in school and continue. Well, I just wanted to say all that and to see if you had any plans to visit those poor kids. It is like a bomb dropped on our state with its epicenter in Sitka and my poor sweet Allie is right in the middle of it. Thank you for your time and I hope that I didn't bother you too much. Governor Palin Orders Flags Lowered for Former Lawmaker

February 6, 2008, Juneau, Alaska - Governor Sarah Palin today ordered state flags to be lowered to half-staff in honor and memory of former State Representative Bernard Bylsma, who died February 2 in Arizona with his family at his side. He was 85.

A memorial service will be held Thursday, February 7, in Surprise, Arizona, where Bylsma lived for the last 15 years. A second memorial will be held at a later date in Anchorage, where Bylsma will be buried alongside his first wife, Billie.

Bylsma was born August 27, 1922. A longtime Anchorage businessman who owned Turnagain Chevron, Bylsma was elected to the Alaska State House in 1980 and served one term, advocating successfully for bike trails in Girdwood.

"Todd and I send our thoughts and prayers out to Representative Bylsma's family during this difficult time," said Governor Palin. "We are grateful for the legacy of his family and for his selfless service to the State of Alaska."

Bylsma is survived by his second wife, Jennie, who lives in Arizona; 11 children - Darrell, Doug, Glen, Marlene, Dan, Charles, Eileen, Joan, Jeff, Brad and Krystal - and their families; six stepchildren - Betty, Bob, Rick, Kathy, Leann, Mark - and their families; 32 grandchildren; and 15 great-grandchildren.

State flags will be lowered on Thursday to coincide with the day of the memorial service for Bylsma in Arizona.

Please leave habitat permitting with DNR.

It is a huge mistake to move it back to ADFG.

We are a fishing community and this is going to kill all development in our state again. We love ADFG, but this is moving backwards. Habitat permitting belongs with Natural Resources not Fish and Game. We don't want to go back to washing sand off rocks before placing them as rip rap. We are still paying huge electric bills from the millions of dollars added to the power creek project from overzealous ADFG habitat biologists who stated it was their job to "stop any project they can".

Please don't do it.

Subject: Halcro took a shot at me on his blog today

Feb 5: AGIA. What is the baby sitter's opinion?

On Monday, emails were flying about a weekend opinion column published in the Valley Frontiersman by a former campaign volunteer for Governor Palin, turned state employee and baby sitter for the governor.

Ivy Frye, who was appointed to head up the State Boards & Commissions Office and then was replaced a few months into the job last year, has become known as the governor's baby sitter who shuttled kids to school on state time.

Her opinion column offers us more baseless and simplistic Palin-esq rhetoric when it comes to AGIA. We have added our comments in italics.

Conoco blows hot air about gas production

By Ivy Frye

The Alaska Gasline Inducement Act (AGIA) remains the subject of a lively debate. While many see it as a brilliant strategy, some critics assure us that no project can move forward without the consent of North Slope producers. (Fact: The only AGIA applicant has stated the project cannot move forward without the "agreement & support" of the producers)

Time will prove AGIA's merits and one thing is for certain: During her first year in office, Governor Palin has blazed the trail for Alaska 's first truly open and competitive process for building a natural gas pipeline. (Fact: One year later and this process has given us only one applicant. Even ardent supporters of AGIA are upset because it hasn't delivered any competition and they accuse Palin of promoting "form over substance".)

In the broadest sense, AGIA is designed to do two things: move a project forward on a predictable timeline and ensure an open-access pipeline. (Fact: The project won't move forward, regardless of the state's timelines until the producers agree to commit to pay for the $30 plus billion pipeline.)

Nothing prevents ConocoPhillips from building a gasline, nor has anything prevented this for the past several decades. And yet, it has chosen not to. (Fact: The price of natural gas wasn't even high enough to justify costing out a pipeline project let alone building it, until just six years ago.)

In the company's current public relations tour, Conoco makes it very clear that it does not require any of the incentives offered under AGIA. Why would the state want to give away $500 million when ConocoPhillips will consider moving a project forward right now? (Fact: The only reason the state is offering a $500 million inducement is a carrot for companies like Transcanada who have no gas, no financing and little hope of pulling off the project. AGIA was written to exclude Conoco and other producers.)

Never mind that this is all contingent on a number of preconditions. (Fact: A legal opinion released last week stated that Transcanada's AGIA application should have been rejected due to including contingencies.)

ConocoPhillips only wants one thing for this seemingly irresistible offer — to sit down again and discuss fiscal terms. (Fact: Even Transcanada in their AGIA application (2.2.S2) demands the state sit down and discuss fiscal terms.)

But, company officials do not suggest this in their proposal of what these terms might be. When this was pointed out in the governor's recent letter to CEO James Mulva, ConocoPhillips responded that it does have some terms in mind and would be happy to share these in private just as soon as the governor is ready to sit down and negotiate.

Although the governor goes on to explain in her letter why this is no longer a viable alternative, Conoco chooses to ignore it. (Fact: The reason the governor gave for not discussing fiscal terms in her letter to Conoco was that AGIA proved they didn't need to. However, the governor was wrong. Transcanada clearly told the governor in their AGIA bid that she needed to discuss fiscal terms with Conoco and others.)

The governor also asks in her letter why Conoco chose not to commit gas to its proposed project. What is interesting about Conoco's answer is that officials do not answer the question. Instead, Conoco takes the opportunity to point out that TransCanada hasn't committed gas in its AGIA license application. Never mind the fact that TransCanada is not a gas producer and has no gas to commit, and never mind the fact that a gas commitment is the single-largest thing Conoco could do to lessen the project risk and move a project forward. (Fact: Conoco cannot responsibly commit to supplying gas for twenty five years or more in ship or pay contracts without knowing more about the fiscal regime that will govern the $30 plus billion project.)

The questions people should be asking begin with "why?" Why would ConocoPhillips choose to keep the project risk high? (Fact: At $30 plus billion and the largest oil & gas project in the world, the risk is already high. Conoco is attempting to limit the projects risk by trying to understand the economic modeling which is impossible until you understand the fiscal framework of the project including your tax liability)

Why, if ConocoPhillips needs none of the state incentives to move forward, would it make no effort to do so? Why would ConocoPhillips choose to make its "proposal" public just the day before AGIA's application deadline? (Fact: Conoco doesn't need the state's $500 million because they have the tools to make the project work. They have gas reserves, deep balance sheet and relationships with North Slope producers. Transcanada needs to accept the $500 million because they have no gas reserves and thus no certainty for project financing. If they were to undertake AGIA without the state's $500 million, every dime they spend would be their own and a very risky move.)

In my mind, the answer to all is clear: fear. Conoco does not want the state to issue an AGIA license. It does not want a project to move forward on the state's aggressive timeline and does not want an open access pipeline. (Aggressive timeline? Under AGIA, Alaska could be locked in with Transcanada for up to ten years, pay them $500 million and still not have a natural gas pipeline.)

In reality, I do not believe Conoco is at all surprised its "proposal" has not been taken seriously. It would be quite clear to anyone who has actually taken the time to read the document. Compared to any of the serious AGIA applications received by the state, it is a grade-schooler's guide to gasline risk. (Fact: The AGIA process has delivered one applicant whose application is not a real application. They have placed contingencies on everything, even saying they had to get final approval from their board before going ahead. In addition, Revenue Commissioner Pat Galvin testified there may be "complications" with Transcanada's AGIA application.)

ConocoPhillips is engaged in nothing more than an expensive campaign to obfuscate the AGIA process and fuel the public's hope that after so many failed negotiations and stonewalling, the producers are finally ready to build us a gasline.

Unfortunately, ConocoPhillips' effort has been quite successful in its attempt to take attention from the AGIA process. Radio hosts, former statewide candidates and other critics are swept along in the frenzy, using their positions to level personal attacks on AGIA supporters rather than debate the true merits of public policy. (Fact: We have argued factually since day one. We predicted this process would fail to deliver an applicant that could build the project without the producers and so far we have been absolutely correct. Even the sole AGIA applicant agrees with us on the issue of needing a fiscal framework.)

As this chapter continues to unfold, I would encourage Conoco to work with the Palin administration toward our mutual goal of getting Alaska's North Slope gas to market. And as for the rest, let's keep our dialogue civilized. (We agree. Lets start by telling the truth instead of fairy tales and recognize that the AGIA applicant has said the governor needs to negotiate a fiscal framework to get this project moving forward.)

STATEWIDE INITIATIVE ON SEXUAL ASSAULTS

DPS is proposing a statewide initiative to reduce the level of sexual assaults in Alaska. Alaska has a very serious problem with the rates of sexual assaults, particularly in rural areas. Colonel Holloway and the Commissioner want to implement a statewide initiative. DPS estimates the initiative would cost about $10 million a year each of 5 years ($50 million total) and involve about 30 – 40 new temporary trooper positions. These new troopers would only investigate sexual assault cases. Any cases they bring forward would be prosecuted before dedicated courts of judges, prosecutors, and public defenders that would only work on sexual assault cases. There would be a fiscal impact on a number of departments but it has not been calculated yet.

Because it is such an important issue and there are a lot of unanswered questions, I offered to meet with DPS every Friday afternoon for an hour until we get the details ironed out. I want to walk through the issues and fiscal impacts with them. After that, we would meet with OMB and other commissioners of affected departments to get their input.

VPSO TASK FORCE RECOMMENDATIONS

The main recommendations from the report are:

1. Increase pay by $4.50 per hour (starting pay would increase from $16.55 an hour to $21 an hour)
2. Increase number of VPSO's by 60 over a four year period
3. Provide a small stipend of $1,000 per VPSO to each community with a VPSO to mitigate cost of maintaining a public safety building and equipment.

Dear Governor Palin:

I am not in support of the proposed plan to give each Alaskan part of our budget surplus in a check. We need to fully fund our PERS/TRS systems, pay down our debt, fund maintenance and repairs on state facilities, and increae the CB reserve. We already have one of the lowest tax burdens in the country. Let's think longer term than the next election. Thanks for trying to defeat this bad idea. Sandy McKinnis

Governor Palin,

I just wanted to touch base and let you know personally that the Bald Eagles that Bird Treatment and Learning Center received from the Ocean Beauty Seafoods incident on Kodiak Island are doing well. We have moved 16 of the birds to our flight facility at Ft. Richardson, with the remaining birds still being held at our Anchorage facility.

The first release of these birds back to Kodiak is scheduled to happen on Saturday Feb. 9th in Kodiak. There is discussion pending on having the Asst. Sec. Of the Interior, Lynn Scarlett, do a toss release of on of the birds. This part is still pending confirmation from her office.

Bird TLC volunteers and the general public have all risen to meet the needs of these birds while they are in our care. We have over 55 volunteers who have put in over 1000 hours to wash, dry, feed and clean these birds. The general community has provided large quantities of donated salmon and hooligan to maintain a high quality diet for the birds during this period.

Thank you for your support of Bird TLC, and I hope your kids enjoyed the release!

Feb 5: AGIA. What is the baby sitter's opinion?

On Monday, emails were flying about a weekend opinion column published in the Valley Frontiersman by a former campaign volunteer for Governor Palin, turned state employee and baby sitter for the governor.

Ivy Frye, who was appointed to head up the State Boards & Commissions Office and then was replaced a few months into the job last year, has become known as the governor's baby sitter who shuttled kids to school on state time.

Her opinion column offers us more baseless and simplistic Palin-esq rhetoric when it comes to AGIA. We have added our comments in italics.

Conoco blows hot air about gas production

By Ivy Frye

The Alaska Gasline Inducement Act (AGIA) remains the subject of a lively debate. While many see it as a brilliant strategy, some critics assure us that no project can move forward without the consent of North Slope producers. (Fact: The only AGIA applicant has stated the project cannot move forward without the "agreement & support" of the producers)

Time will prove AGIA's merits and one thing is for certain: During her first year in office, Governor Palin has blazed the trail for Alaska 's first truly open and competitive process for building a natural gas pipeline. (Fact: One year later and this process has given us only one applicant. Even ardent supporters of AGIA are upset because it hasn't delivered any competition and they accuse Palin of promoting "form over substance".)

In the broadest sense, AGIA is designed to do two things: move a project forward on a predictable timeline and ensure an open-access pipeline. (Fact: The project won't move forward, regardless of the state's timelines until the producers agree to commit to pay for the $30 plus billion pipeline.)

Nothing prevents ConocoPhillips from building a gasline, nor has anything prevented this for the past several decades. And yet, it has chosen not to. (Fact: The price of natural gas wasn't even high enough to justify costing out a pipeline project let alone building it, until just six years ago.)

In the company's current public relations tour, Conoco makes it very clear that it does not require any of the incentives offered under AGIA. Why would the state want to give away $500 million when ConocoPhillips will consider moving a project forward right now? (Fact: The only reason the state is offering a $500 million inducement is a carrot for companies like Transcanada who have no gas, no financing and little hope of pulling off the project. AGIA was written to exclude Conoco and other producers.)

Never mind that this is all contingent on a number of preconditions. (Fact: A legal opinion released last week stated that Transcanada's AGIA application should have been rejected due to including contingencies.)

ConocoPhillips only wants one thing for this seemingly irresistible offer - to sit down again and discuss fiscal terms. (Fact: Even Transcanada in their AGIA application (2.2.52) demands the state sit down and discuss fiscal terms.)

But, company officials do not suggest this in their proposal of what these terms might be. When this was pointed out in the governor's recent letter to CEO James Mulva, ConocoPhillips responded that it does have some terms in mind and would be happy to share these in private just as soon as the governor is ready to sit down and negotiate.

Although the governor goes on to explain in her letter why this is no longer a viable alternative, Conoco chooses to ignore it. (Fact: The reason the governor gave for not discussing fiscal terms in her letter to Conoco was that AGIA proved they didn't need to. However, the governor was wrong. Transcanada clearly told the governor in their AGIA bid that she needed to discuss fiscal terms with Conoco and others.)

The governor also asks in her letter why Conoco chose not to commit gas to its proposed project. What is interesting about Conoco's answer is that officials do not answer the question. Instead, Conoco takes the opportunity to point out that TransCanada hasn't committed gas in its AGIA license application. Never mind the fact that TransCanada is not a gas producer and has no gas to commit, and never mind the fact that a gas commitment is the single-largest thing Conoco could do to lessen the project risk and move a project forward. (Fact: Conoco cannot responsibly commit to supplying gas for twenty five years or more in ship or pay contracts without knowing more about the fiscal regime that will govern the $30 plus billion project.)

The questions people should be asking begin with "why?" Why would ConocoPhillips choose to keep the project risk high? (Fact: At $30 plus billion and the largest oil & gas project in the world, the risk is already high. Conoco is attempting to limit the projects risk by trying to understand the economic modeling which is impossible until you understand the fiscal framework of the project including your tax liability)

Why, if ConocoPhillips needs none of the state incentives to move forward, would it make no effort to do so? Why would ConocoPhillips choose to make its "proposal" public just the day before AGIA's application deadline? (Fact: Conoco doesn't need the state's $500 million because they have the tools to make the project work. They have gas reserves, deep balance sheet and relationships with North Slope producers. Transcanada needs to accept the $500 million because they have no gas reserves and thus no certainty for project financing. If they were to undertake AGIA without the state's $500 million, every dime they spend would be their own and a very risky move.)

In my mind, the answer to all is clear: fear. Conoco does not want the state to issue an AGIA license. It does not want a project to move forward on the state's aggressive timeline and does not want an open access pipeline. (Aggressive timeline? Under AGIA, Alaska could be locked in with Transcanada for up to ten years, pay them $500 million and still not have a natural gas pipeline.)

In reality, I do not believe Conoco is at all surprised its "proposal" has not been taken seriously. It would be quite clear to anyone who has actually taken the time to read the document. Compared to any of the serious AGIA applications received by the state, it is a grade-schooler's guide to gasline risk. (Fact: The AGIA process has delivered one applicant whose application is not a real application. They have placed contingencies on everything, even saying they had to get final approval from their board before going ahead. In addition, Revenue Commissioner Pat Galvin testified there may be "complications" with Transcanada's AGIA application.)

ConocoPhillips is engaged in nothing more than an expensive campaign to obfuscate the AGIA process and fuel the public's hope that after so many failed negotiations and stonewalling, the producers are finally ready to build us a gasline.

Unfortunately, ConocoPhillips' effort has been quite successful in its attempt to take attention from the AGIA process. Radio hosts, former statewide candidates and other critics are swept along in the frenzy, using their positions to level personal attacks on AGIA supporters rather than debate the true merits of public policy. (Fact: We have argued factually since day one. We predicted this process would fail to deliver an applicant that could build the project without the producers and so far we have been absolutely correct. Even the sole AGIA applicant agrees with us on the issue of needing a fiscal framework.)

As this chapter continues to unfold, I would encourage Conoco to work with the Palin administration toward our mutual goal of getting Alaska's North Slope gas to market. And as for the rest, let's keep our dialogue civilized. (We agree. Let's start by telling the truth instead of fairy tales and recognize that the AGIA applicant has said the governor needs to negotiate a fiscal framework to get this project moving forward.)

Ivy- Have you EVER shuttled my kids on state time, ever? I know you have not. Halcro is a liar. The mainstream media going to him as a credible source is pathetic.

Security has shuttled my kids from point A to point B, with their insistence that it's their job to work for/protect the First Family and they did it for other governors. If Halcro wants to gripe about that, let him take it up with Security.

(Maybe I need to get that in writing?) Even with Security I don't ask much of them so I can't be accused of "using state personnel" to assist with First Family logistics.

Sharon, if there's anything you can do here shedding light on Halcro's continued lies, pls do.

And Ivy, your AGIA piece was great!

Feb 5: AGIA. What is the baby sitter's opinion?

On Monday, emails were flying about a weekend opinion column published in the Valley Frontiersman by a former campaign volunteer for Governor Palin, turned state employee and baby sitter for the governor.

Ivy Frye, who was appointed to head up the State Boards & Commissions Office and then was replaced a few months into the job last year, has become known as the governor's baby sitter who shuttled kids to school on state time.

Her opinion column offers us more baseless and simplistic Palin-esq rhetoric when it comes to AGIA. We have added our comments in italics.

Conoco blows hot air about gas production

By Ivy Frye

The Alaska Gasline Inducement Act (AGIA) remains the subject of a lively debate. While many see it as a brilliant strategy, some critics assure us that no project can move forward without the consent of North Slope producers. (Fact: The only AGIA applicant has stated the project cannot move forward without the "agreement & support" of the producers)

Time will prove AGIA's merits and one thing is for certain: During her first year in office, Governor Palin has blazed the trail for Alaska 's first truly open and competitive process for building a natural gas pipeline. (Fact: One year later and this process has given us only one applicant. Even ardent supporters of AGIA are upset because it hasn't delivered any competition and they accuse Palin of promoting "form over substance".)

In the broadest sense, AGIA is designed to do two things: move a project forward on a predictable timeline and ensure an open-access pipeline. (Fact: The project won't move forward, regardless of the state's timelines until the producers agree to commit to pay for the $30 plus billion pipeline.)

Nothing prevents ConocoPhillips from building a gasline, nor has anything prevented this for the past several decades. And yet, it has chosen not to. (Fact: The price of natural gas wasn't even high enough to justify costing out a pipeline project let alone building it, until just six years ago.)

In the company's current public relations tour, Conoco makes it very clear that it does not require any of the incentives offered under AGIA. Why would the state want to give away $500 million when ConocoPhillips will consider moving a project forward right now? (Fact: The only reason the state is offering a $500 million inducement is a carrot for companies like Transcanada who have no gas, no financing and little hope of pulling off the project. AGIA was written to exclude Conoco and other producers.)

Never mind that this is all contingent on a number of preconditions. (Fact: A legal opinion released last week stated that Transcanada's AGIA application should have been rejected due to including contingencies.)

ConocoPhillips only wants one thing for this seemingly irresistible offer - to sit down again and discuss fiscal terms. (Fact: Even Transcanada in their AGIA application (2.2.52) demands the state sit down and discuss fiscal terms.)

When this was pointed out in the governor's recent letter to CEO James Mulva, ConocoPhillips responded that it does have some terms in mind and would be happy to share these in private just as soon as the governor is ready to sit down and negotiate.

Although the governor goes on to explain in her letter why this is no longer a viable alternative, Conoco chooses to ignore it. (Fact: The reason the governor gave for not discussing fiscal terms in her letter to Conoco was that AGIA proved they didn't need to. However, the governor was wrong. TransCanada clearly told the governor in their AGIA bid that she needed to discuss fiscal terms with Conoco and others.)

The governor also asks in her letter why Conoco chose not to commit gas to its proposed project. What is interesting about Conoco's answer is that officials do not answer the question. Instead, Conoco takes the opportunity to point out that TransCanada hasn't committed gas in its AGIA license application. Never mind the fact that TransCanada is not a gas producer and has no gas to commit, and never mind the fact that a gas commitment is the single-largest thing Conoco could do to lessen the project risk and move a project forward. (Fact: Conoco cannot responsibly commit to supplying gas for twenty five years or more in ship or pay contracts without knowing more about the fiscal regime that will govern the $30 plus billion project.)

The questions people should be asking begin with "why?" Why would ConocoPhillips choose to keep the project risk high? (Fact: At $30 plus billion and the largest oil & gas project in the world, the risk is already high. Conoco is attempting to limit the projects risk by trying to understand the economic modeling which is impossible until you understand the fiscal framework of the project including your tax liability)

Why, if ConocoPhillips needs none of the state incentives to move forward, would it make no effort to do so? Why would ConocoPhillips choose to make its "proposal" public just the day before AGIA's application deadline? (Fact: Conoco doesn't need the state's $500 million because they have the tools to make the project work. They have gas reserves, deep balance sheet and relationships with North Slope producers. Transcanada needs to accept the $500 million because they have no gas reserves and thus no certainty for project financing. If they were to undertake AGIA without the state's $500 million, every dime they spend would be their own and a very risky move.)

In my mind, the answer to all is clear: fear. Conoco does not want the state to issue an AGIA license. It does not want a project to move forward on the state's aggressive timeline and does not want an open access pipeline. (Aggressive timeline? Under AGIA, Alaska could be locked in with Transcanada for up to ten years, pay them $500 million and still not have a natural gas pipeline.)

In reality, I do not believe Conoco is at all surprised its "proposal" has not been taken seriously. It would be quite clear to anyone who has actually taken the time to read the document. Compared to any of the serious AGIA applications received by the state, it is a grade-schooler's guide to gasline risk. (Fact: The AGIA process has delivered one applicant whose application is not a real application. They have placed contingencies on everything, even saying they had to get final approval from their board before going ahead. In addition, Revenue Commissioner Pat Galvin testified there may be "complications" with Transcanada's AGIA application.)

ConocoPhillips is engaged in nothing more than an expensive campaign to obfuscate the AGIA process and fuel the public's hope that after so many failed negotiations and stonewalling, the producers are finally ready to build us a gasline.

Unfortunately, ConocoPhillips' effort has been quite successful in its attempt to take attention from the AGIA process. Radio hosts, former statewide candidates and other critics are swept along in the frenzy, using their positions to level personal attacks on AGIA supporters rather than debate the true merits of public policy. (Fact: We have argued factually since day one. We predicted this process would fail to deliver an applicant that could build the project without the producers and so far we have been absolutely correct. Even the sole AGIA applicant agrees with us on the issue of needing a fiscal framework.)

As this chapter continues to unfold, I would encourage Conoco to work with the Palin administration toward our mutual goal of getting Alaska's North Slope gas to market. And as for the rest, let's keep our dialogue civilized. (We agree. Lets start by telling the truth instead of fairy tales and recognize that the AGIA applicant has said the governor needs to negotiate a fiscal framework to get this project moving forward.)

Governor Palin,

My name is Willie (Will) Bell, and I am a University of Idaho Alum (Sigma Chi '91).

I seem to have gotten on your mailing list for the Free Alaska Travel Guide (sign me up). I probably got on the mailing list as I buy a fishing permit up there every summer, and spend a lot of money in your BEAUTIFUL state when I vacation in Petersburg and Wrangell/Thorne Bay (McFarland's Floatel)

The reason for my email is that I was reading my University of Idaho magazine last month, and read that great article about you and the programs and policies you are enacting. It seemed an irony and I didnt want to let the opportunity pass to email you.

I just wanted to give you a hearty congratulations and tell you how proud I am to read about the wonderful things University of Idaho Alums are going on to do. You are an inspiration (wether you think so or not) to men and women and lots of people do read the magazine. Please keep up the good work, stay away from corruption and scandal, and have a great time as Alaska's state governor. Next time you get to Portland, oregon, look me up, I'd be glad to buy you a steak dinner.

Best Regards,

Willie Bell Idaho '96

Mr. Bailey – Later this week I intend to sent a letter to Governor Palin informing her of my intent to retire from State service and from my position as Director of the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board on April 30, 2008. This will allow me to serve through the remainder of this regular session of the Alaska Legislature. I was appointed by Governor Tony Knowles and have enjoyed serving as the ABC Board Director for 12 years. I have informed my Board of my intent and give this notice with the desire to aid in the transition process to new leadership of the ABC Board. Under AS 04.06.070, the Director of the ABC Board is appointed by the Governor and serves at the pleasure of the Governor appointed ABC Board. It has been an honor to serve the people of Alaska in this important position of public trust. I will assist in every way possible to aid in the transition of the new Director. – Doug Griffin, Director, ABC Board

Dear Governor Palin

On KBYR the other day they mentioned that you had not endorsed a presidential Republican. You were waiting to hear from Gov Huckabee and Sen McCain..This concerns me that you would not endorse Gov Romney..I cannot help but feel that the national press is lining up behind Sen McCain..The only reason this would happen is if they are afraid Gov Romney would be a formidable opponent but that Sen. McCain is immensely beatable and set up the stage for a clear Democratic victory in November. Sen McCain has not been a friend to Alaska. A strong opponent to opening Anwar. Gov Huckabee has some good ideas but lacks the experience , especially in dealing with Islamic Terrorism. The single most important obstacle facing this nation and for that matter the entire exhistance of civilization as we know it..This is my opinion of course , but I feel that Gov Romney possesses the necessary qualities for the job. I would be interested in your thinking on this subject. I met you when you were on the campaign trail at the Aspen Hotel in Soldotna. You were preparing for a radio appearance on KDLL. You asked me how you should respond to the question why you would be a better Governor than Tony Knowles. I was impressed that you would ask.

Keep up the good work as our Governor

Hello,

Just a quick recap for tonight's event:

Two screens set-up in the Library & Ballroom; seating for 25 (and extra chairs available). Since there's not a firm guest count it helps so it doesn't look sparse, then chairs can easily be added as they're needed.

Dining table set up in Main Hall with beverages & beer (in buckets w. ice), wine, & coffee along with appetizers.

The Dining room- I'll add some chairs so people can use that room to mingle and visit.

Media: you won't lose your cable in the mst.bedroom this time. Volume adjustments will be next to the projectors- not hooked into the House system and you can change the channels.

Ivy- do you have a guess/estimate on numbers?

Let me know if you'd like to change anything!

Thanks,

Erika

Feb 5: AGIA. What is the baby sitter's opinion?

On Monday, emails were flying about a weekend opinion column published in the Valley Frontiersman by a former campaign volunteer for Governor Palin, turned state employee and baby sitter for the governor.

Ivy Frye, who was appointed to head up the State Boards & Commissions Office and then was replaced a few months into the job last year, has become known as the governor's baby sitter who shuttled kids to school on state time.

Her opinion column offers us more baseless and simplistic Palin-esq rhetoric when it comes to AGIA. We have added our comments in italics.

Conoco blows hot air about gas production
 By Ivy Frye

The Alaska Gasline Inducement Act (AGIA) remains the subject of a lively debate. While many see it as a brilliant strategy, some critics assure us that no project can move forward without the consent of North Slope producers. (Fact: The only AGIA applicant has stated the project cannot move forward without the "agreement & support" of the producers)

Time will prove AGIA's merits and one thing is for certain: During her first year in office, Governor Palin has blazed the trail for Alaska's first truly open and competitive process for building a natural gas pipeline. (Fact: One year later and this process has given us only one applicant. Even ardent supporters of AGIA are upset because it hasn't delivered any competition and they accuse Palin of promoting "form over substance".)

In the broadest sense, AGIA is designed to do two things: move a project forward on a predictable timeline and ensure an open-access pipeline. (Fact: The project won't move forward, regardless of the state's timelines until the producers agree to commit to pay for the $30 plus billion pipeline.)

Nothing prevents ConocoPhillips from building a gasline, nor has anything prevented this for the past several decades. And yet, it has chosen not to. (Fact: The price of natural gas wasn't even high enough to justify costing out a pipeline project let alone building it, until just six years ago.)

In the company's current public relations tour, Conoco makes it very clear that it does not require any of the incentives offered under AGIA. Why would the state want to give away $500 million when ConocoPhillips will consider moving a project forward right now? (Fact: The only reason the state is offering a $500 million inducement is a carrot for companies like Transcanada who have no gas, no financing and little hope of pulling off the project. AGIA was written to exclude Conoco and other producers.)

Never mind that this is all contingent on a number of preconditions. (Fact: A legal opinion released last week stated that Transcanada's AGIA application should have been rejected due to including contingencies.)

ConocoPhillips only wants one thing for this seemingly irresistible offer — to sit down again and discuss fiscal terms. (Fact: Even Transcanada in their AGIA application (2.2.52) demands the state sit down and discuss fiscal terms.)

But, company officials do not suggest this in their proposal of what these terms might be. When this was pointed out in the governor's recent letter to CEO James Mulva, ConocoPhillips responded that it does have some terms in mind and would be happy to share these in private just as soon as the governor is ready to sit down and negotiate.

Although the governor goes on to explain in her letter why this is no longer a viable alternative, Conoco chooses to ignore it. (Fact: The reason the governor gave for not discussing fiscal terms in her letter to Conoco was that AGIA proved they didn't need to. However, the governor was wrong. Transcanada clearly told the governor in their AGIA bid that she needed to discuss fiscal terms with Conoco and others.)

The governor also asks in her letter why Conoco chose not to commit gas to its proposed project. What is interesting about Conoco's

PRA_GSP01_0011465

answer is that officials do not answer the question. Instead, Conoco takes the opportunity to point out that TransCanada hasn't committed gas in its AGIA license application. Never mind the fact that TransCanada is not a gas producer and has no gas to commit, and never mind the fact that a gas commitment is the single-largest thing Conoco could do to lessen the project risk and move a project forward. (Fact: Conoco cannot responsibly commit to supplying gas for twenty five years or more in ship or pay contracts without knowing more about the fiscal regime that will govern the $30 plus billion project.)

The questions people should be asking begin with "why?" Why would ConocoPhillips choose to keep the project risk high? (Fact: At $30 plus billion and the largest oil & gas project in the world, the risk is already high. Conoco is attempting to limit the projects risk by trying to understand the economic modeling which is impossible until you understand the fiscal framework of the project including your tax liability)

Why, if ConocoPhillips needs none of the state incentives to move forward, would it make no effort to do so? Why would ConocoPhillips choose to make its "proposal" public just the day before AGIA's application deadline? (Fact: Conoco doesn't need the state's $500 million because they have the tools to make the project work. They have gas reserves, deep balance sheet and relationships with North Slope producers. Transcanada needs to accept the $500 million because they have no gas reserves and thus no certainty for project financing. If they were to undertake AGIA without the state's $500 million, every dime they spend would be their own and a very risky move.)

In my mind, the answer to all is clear: fear. Conoco does not want the state to issue an AGIA license. It does not want a project to move forward on the state's aggressive timeline and does not want an open access pipeline. (Aggressive timeline? Under AGIA, Alaska could be locked in with Transcanada for up to ten years, pay them $500 million and still not have a natural gas pipeline.)

In reality, I do not believe Conoco is at all surprised its "proposal" has not been taken seriously. It would be quite clear to anyone who has actually taken the time to read the document. Compared to any of the serious AGIA applications received by the state, it is a grade-schooler's guide to gasline risk. (Fact: The AGIA process has delivered one applicant whose application is not a real application. They have placed contingencies on everything, even saying they had to get final approval from their board before going ahead. In addition, Revenue Commissioner Pat Galvin testified there may be "complications" with Transcanada's AGIA application.)

ConocoPhillips is engaged in nothing more than an expensive campaign to obfuscate the AGIA process and fuel the public's hope that after so many failed negotiations and stonewalling, the producers are finally ready to build us a gasline.

Unfortunately, ConocoPhillips' effort has been quite successful in its attempt to take attention from the AGIA process. Radio hosts, former statewide candidates and other critics are swept along in the frenzy, using their positions to level personal attacks on AGIA supporters rather than debate the true merits of public policy. (Fact: We have argued factually since day one. We predicted this process would fail to deliver an applicant that could build the project without the producers and so far we have been absolutely correct. Even the sole AGIA applicant agrees with us on the issue of needing a fiscal framework.)

As this chapter continues to unfold, I would encourage Conoco to work with the Palin administration toward our mutual goal of getting Alaska's North Slope gas to market. And as for the rest, let's keep our dialogue civilized. (We agree. Lets start by telling the truth instead of fairy tales and recognize that the AGIA applicant has said the governor needs to negotiate a fiscal framework to get this project moving forward.)

Dear Governor Palin, Texas has acknowledged and thanked us for our support. A press release is something of an issue. I have been in contact with Sharon but the problem is that Texas has not released their brief to the press because they are still gathering support (like our endorsement) from other states and will probably tweak the brief before they file it and release it themselves. We should not release their brief before it is final or released by the author. It is clear that we are on board. I will be back in touch with Sharon after I hear more from Texas about how they feel about a press release. In any event, we are on board. Thanks Talis

We greatly appreciate your excellent work on this issue of great importance. Indeed, this case has attracted a great deal of interest and attention in Alaska, so much so that we would like to issue a press release announcing that Alaska is joining your compelling brief. I assume that you would have no objection to such a press release, but I wanted to ask the separate question of whether you would have concerns or objections to our making such an announcement before you actually file the brief on Monday or issue your own statement. Obviously, in such a scenario we would not release the draft you circulated, we would just reference your general position and express our strong support. Alaskans, like Texans, are especially interested in this matter and Alaskans are eager to have our assurances that Alaska is standing with Texas and the "XX" other states to defend their individual rights.

I have a meeting with him next week while we are both at the Alaska Forum on the Environment. DEC has been investigating contamination at the dry dock facility, issued Notice of Violations to the operator, and may be filing a civil complaint.

DEC had an inspector in Seward to observe the loading of a coal ship by the ARRC last week. I understand, despite windy conditions, the loading went well with no dust problems.

MESSAGE:

Dear Governor Palin,

I just wanted to take a few minutes to thank you for taking the time out of your busy schedule and life to drive down to Seward today to join us in celebrating the Centennial of the Iditarod. We are all very touched and inspired by your efforts on our behalf. I hope your drive back was as easy as the drive down.

I would also like to recap our conversation if I may. I am indeed working very hard amongst the conservation community to focus on common ground and promoting projects rather than always seeming to oppose projects. As you can imagine it is an uphill battle but I can definitely see progress being made. With my leadership positions in the conservation community I hope to bring more leaders from around our great state to more moderate stances.

I will continue promoting utilizing the railbelt ROW and ARCC for potential wind generation siting as you suggested. I will continue the dialogue with your cabinet and hope you will promote it from above as well. It would be so nice to see our own public corp, ARRC promoting renewable energies rather than strictly coal.

We also spoke of the President of Iceland's vision and how it inspired us both. After you raised the question and contemplating it for a while I believe it was the high cost of fuel which swung the public and political climate in Iceland to support their renewable energy development. So perhaps with our ever rising fuel costs these projects will become viable and receive broader support as time passes. Every time fuel costs go up I figure alternatives are coming down. So it seems we are on the right track, its just a matter of time. I really appreciate all of your efforts towards promoting renewable projects statewide. Please know I am at your service if you should ever have any suggestions.

We also spoke of the shipyard and the need to tighten up regulations to prevent shipyard pollution. Ketchikan, Sitka, and now Seward's shipyards have all been declared contaminated sites. This is directly due to lack of containment which is allowed by loose regulations such as the "reasonable precautions" language in the fugitive dust regs. Prevention is key and it is obvious we will be developing new ports and marine facilities in the future. We must learn from our mistakes. All of the other coastal states have gone through this same transition after winding up with contaminated shipyards. So we have great models to follow. I will continue working with Joe and Larry on this effort.

Tributyltin, the element of concern detected in all of the shipyard samples is, as I mentioned, now banned globally, and has been banned in Alaska for 8 years, yet is still appearing everywhere we look. As I also mentioned I believe the Alaska Marine Highway Ferries and USCG vessels may still utilize this most toxic substance. Without total containment of waste generating activities the contamination can only get worse in time. And without even a lab in Alaska capable of analyzing samples for TBT we have a real challenge before us. UAF and the Sealife Center just started a study of TBT in mussels from a number of locations around the state including near our shipyard's long term beach dumpsite for their waste. I am in this for the long term and will continue doing whatever I can to raise awareness of these issues.

My grandson, Hunter was so proud of your attention. He was even shown driving a sled on the news tonight! He is such a serious young man. I am really proud of him. His science teacher invited me to speak to the class about conservation issues. As you are, I am dedicated to making this world a better place for our future generations. The most compelling moment in my life was when Chief Joe Linklater of the Gwich'in in Old Crow, YT spoke addressed Congress last year and said, "this land is for those not yet born", then he paused for at least 2 minutes before continuing his testimony. There wasn't a dry eye in the chamber.

Again, thank you so much for coming today. And please if there is ever anything you can think of that I might do for the benefit of the state just call me. I stand ready to serve.

Thanks for all of your efforts on behalf of our great state, and all of us lucky enough to call it home.

Respectfully,

Re: Important Item for Your Amended Budget: CHCs

Dear Governor Palin,

Thank you for your help arranging my meeting with Karen Rehfeld as well as for the privilege of meeting with your Legislator Director, Russ Kelly. I discussed with these key advisors of yours the critical role Community Health Centers (CHCs) are filling throughout Alaska and their need for support. Because I know you are not interested in the "same-old, same-old" when results don't measure up, and I know you're open to innovative approaches that are based on sound principles, I am asking you to be a champion on health care issues – even beyond what you've already been through your current bills in the legislature – by championing CHCs as part of a real, here and now, cost-effective, quality solution to the rising cost of health care and the need for access for Alaskans.

This is a statewide issue, with 124 CHC sites sprinkled across the entire state. It is an issue that needs to be championed by our leader of Alaska, you, Governor Palin. I'll give you the bottom line now instead of waiting until the conclusion of this letter: can we count on you to insert a first-time $13 million CHC funding in your amended budget? Yes, the $13 million request is no small number, but please keep in mind two things: 1) with 80,000 patients and 124 CHC sites throughout the state, the ratio is $105,000/site and 2) CHCs save substantial Medicaid dollars.

As a fan of marketplace solutions like you are, let me point out that CHCs provide primary care access for areas and populations where no competitive marketplace exist. I have been in conversations with the Heritage Foundation regarding this issue the last couple of months; Ed Haislmeier assured me that it is indeed the government's role to assist in a scenario such as ours.

As I discussed with Karen and Russ, CHCs are in a precarious place, with declining revenues, a growing patientload of uninsured and low income Alaskans accompanied by rising operational costs, and an extremely severe workforce shortage. We're one of a handful of states that have been making these open-door, fee-scale clinics available to Alaskans without any direct state funding. But providing primary care (basic medical, dental and behavioral health) to now over 80,000 Alaskans, we are at a juncture where we need state support.

As you know, the Alaska Health Care Strategies Planning Council, in their report, clearly recommended state investment and support to strengthen and expand CHCs. The Council recognized the valuable and cost-effective quality care and access CHCs provide. The fact that Medicaid patients who use CHCs as their medical homes save Medicaid 33% is an important consideration in light of the growing Medicaid budget.

The Federal OMB realizes CHCs' cost-effective quality and value and has given CHCs the highest ranking possible in their scoring system. CHCs are proven providers and have a history of accountability and performance. CHCs stretch the dollar and operate with a high level of excellence. Health outcomes improve in communities with CHCs.

Please remember too, that CHCs are one of the sole providers left in the state that are accepting new Medicare patients. CHCs are an essential resource to our seniors; these clinics are also working to provide access to veterans in outlying areas.

Our request is summarized in the hardcopy brochures I left with Karen and Russ last week. Electronic versions of both the brochure and the full version of the request (103 pages) with data and details are available for download here: <http://www.alaskapca.org/CHCStateFundingPublication.aspx?id=1294> . The request is divided between 4 critical categories of need: workforce recruitment and retention, a one-time capital request for HIT infrastructure, marketing (to get the word out to seniors, those on Medicaid, etc.), and energy assistance.

I've also attached a document, What Alaska Can Expect in Return for Investing in CHCs, which will provide you with some good numerical insight into the benefit of state investment in CHCs as well as the relevant APCA Board Resolution. I'd be happy to address any questions you may have.

And now the bottom line again: will you step out and champion the CHCs in Alaska as part of your plan to address cost, quality access issues in Alaska? Will you add the $13 million to your amended budget to help turn the tide? The expansion and strengthening of primary care lowers overall health care spending and creates healthier communities. You can't go wrong.

Thank you for your steadfast service to Alaskans and your dedication to finding solutions to the important health care issues we face today.

Joining with you to pursue quality, cost-effective primary care access for all Alaskans,

$82.1 million, or $0.44 per share, from $66.9 million, or $0.34 per share, last year, beating analysts' expectations of $0.41 per share. However, earnings in the quarter included a $0.03 gain related to the sale of the company's Texas-based compost business, Living Earth Technology Co. Revenues for the quarter were up by 3.9% to $796 million from $766.2 million in the same period in 2006. Driving these gains were primarily pricing initiatives and higher fuel surcharges since volumes were off by about 1.5 percent. For fiscal 2008, Republic is forecasting earnings of between $1.78 and $1.82 a share. 2. MORE COUNTIES CONSIDER FLOW CONTROL IN UPSTATE NEW YORK

The upstate New York counties of Lewis and St. Lawrence are said to be considering flow control as a means to guarantee coverage of the $21 million in debt held jointly on their Development Authority of the North Country's landfill at Rodman. So far, Jefferson County, which is home to the landfill and a joint owner, is not considering the measure. The development authority itself lacks any municipal policing powers that would enable them to enact flow control directly. The move comes in response to recent action by the Supreme Court which reversed course on its 1994 ruling by saying that governments can force haulers operating within their jurisdictions to use their government-owned facility. The move would essentially revive a preexisting 1992 flow control measure that had been set aside after the 1994 decision. Flow control would do little to change the status quo since most waste generated in the region ends up at the DANC facility, hauled there by Casella Waste Systems which currently holds a contract to collect waste in Lewis and St. Lawrence counties....Read More »

3. WASTE IMPORTED AND LANDFILLED IN MICHIGAN IS DOWN BY 6%

The Michigan DEQ reported a decrease in the volume of waste sent to the state's landfills of 6 percent from last year. Part of which is attributable to a 10 percent drop in the volume of waste originating out-of-state. Imported waste plays a significant role since it accounts for 29 percent of all landfilled waste in the state. 19 percent of all waste comes from Canada alone. That volume has dropped in accordance with a deal made in 2006 between Michigan Senators Levin and Stabenow and the province of Ontario to voluntarily stop shipments from Toronto and surrounding communities into Michigan by 2010. At its peak in 2003, Toronto shipped 142 truckloads of waste per day to Michigan. It now averages 80 truck shipments per day....Read More »

4. CONNECTICUT TO ADD 110 MEGAWATTS OF RENEWABLE POWER

The Connecticut Department of Public Utility Control has granted final approval to seven renewable energy projects that will provide the state with nearly 110 megawatts of power. They include three fuel cell projects, three biomass projects, including a 3-megawatt cow manure-powered biomass plant, and a methane gas project at a Norwalk landfill. The six fuel cells required to power three of the projects will be built by FuelCell Energy Inc. of Danbury at the company's 65,000-square-foot manufacturing plant in Torrington....Read More »

5. OAHU HAWAII REPORTS LOWER RECYCLING RATE

The island of Oahu Hawaii reported that its recycling rate for 2006 fell to 31 percent from 41 percent in 2005 and 35 percent in 2004. The island generated about 1.8 million tons last year of which just over 500 thousand tons were diverted through recycling and reuse programs. Officials are uncertain about the cause but speculate that a larger proportion of construction and demolition wastes would result in a lower recycling rate since these streams are more difficult to recycle. Last month, the island announced plans to expand its waste-to-energy plant and to ship more waste to the mainland in order to preserve space at its Waimanalo Gulch landfill which is needed over the long term to dispose of incinerator ash from the plant...Read More »

6. ECOLAB TO ACQUIRE PROVIDER OF ENERGY, WATER AND EFFLUENT MANAGEMENT SYSTEMS

Ecolab says it has agreed to acquire Ecovation, a Rochester, NY-based provider of renewable energy technology and effluent management systems for the food and beverage industry, for approximately $210 million. Ecolab will then sell approximately $40 million of long-term lease receivables following the transaction. Ecovation's technology reduces plant operation costs by capturing energy from plant waste. It also helps food and beverage processors comply with regulatory requirements. "While an emerging market, the potential for such complete plant solutions is substantial, with the U.S. food and beverage market opportunity alone exceeding $4 billion," according to Ecolab's chairman, president, and CEO Douglas M. Baker, Jr. Ecovation reported 2007 sales of approximately $50 million, and is expected to post 2008 revenues of over $100 million. Ecolab says the acquisition will be dilutive to earnings by up to $0.01 per share this year, but will be accretive to earnings in 2009 and thereafter...Read More »
